Look out for counterfeits, imitations, and substitutes, represented as genuine, but sold at less than regular prices by dealers in medicines not authorized to sell Dr. Pierce's genuine medicines.

To guard against fraud and imposition, the makers of Dr. Pierce's genuine medicines now sell their world-famed remedies only through druggists, authorized as agents, and under a positive guarantee of benefit or cure, or money refunded. Authorized agents only can, under these regulations, furnish Dr. Pierce's genuine medicines, which always have been, are, and always will be, sold at the following prices:

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery (the remedy for all diseases arising from impure blood), $1.00 per bottle. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription (the remedy for woman's chronic weaknesses and derangements), $1.00 per bottle. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets (the original little Liver Pills), 25 cents per vial.

But they're the cheapest medicines sold, because you pay only for the good you get.

A terrific cold wave is approaching from the northwest.

In Minnesota hard and general rains are reported, although nine and one-half inches of snow fell at Hallock and a heavy snow fall was reported elsewhere.

UNDER SERIOUS CHARGES.

An Ohio Man with a Plurality of Wives.

Warrants Out for the Arrest of a Heartless Wretch Who Does Not Seem to Realize the Crime He Has Committed.

Muncie, Ind., Dec. 4.—Sheppard Faulkner, the Illinois man who attempted to live in this city with two wives and eight children and suddenly disappeared a week since, leaving the interesting collection here in destitute circumstances, was denounced as a bigamist, wife No. 1 furnishing the proof and No. 2 ordered his arrest.

Mrs. Faulkner No. 1 says her husband abandoned her at Oldtown, Ill., and she had to seek shelter for herself and the seven children in the Iroquois county poor house. Soon afterwards Faulkner wrote a letter to her and kept up an affectionate correspondence assuring her that he would soon get them out of the place.

He did so, but when the helpless family arrived here it was to find the man with a second wife and a three-months-old babe. No. 2, a young woman of 20 years, says Faulkner alleged to her that he was divorced and married her at Champaign, Ill., August 2, 1889. She was Miss Alice Ganor, residing with the family of Abijah White, at Milford, Ill., at the time, she being an orphan.

A telegram to the clerk of the court where the divorce was alleged to have been secured, substantiates the allegations of No. 1. Falukner's parents reside at North Greenfield, O., where it is alleged he is, seemingly unconcerned about his Muncie relations, who have been ordered to vacate the house that shelters them, and they are only prevented from starving by kind neighbors. The young woman once threatened to murder her babe and then take her own life.

DENVER SENSATION.

Dr. Carpenter in the Hands of the Police on a Serious Charge.

Denver, Col., Dec. 4.—The Times prints a sensational story of the discovery of a wholesale malpractice institution at No. 1738 Champa street by the reporters.

A man named G. V. Carpenter is asserted to be the proprietor of the establishment, and it is declared that he went to the length of employing agents to solicit business for him.

According to the Times' story Carpenter was entrapped into the admission that he had 35 cases on hand, and he offered the reporters, who were ostensibly seeking work, $20 for each case they would bring him.

Carpenter has been arrested twice on the charge of performing criminal operations, but has been discharged both times for lack of evidence. It is believed he will not escape in the present instance. His "customers" are said to be drawn from Capitol Hill as well as the lower parts of the city.

BOARD OF PARDONS.

A Busy Time at Columbus Yesterday.

Many Prisoners Recommended to the Chief Executive as Worthy of Clemency.

Columbus, O., Dec. 4.—At the meeting of the State Board of Pardons the following case were recommended for executive clemency: Patrick Dunn, received from Summit county in May, 1879, on a life sentence for murder in the second degree; John R. Bowen, received from Jackson county in May, 1891, to serve three years for perjury; Chester M. Day, received from Portage county in September, 1890, to serve two years for administering poison with intent to injure; Julius F. Erlenbach, received from Lucas county in November, 1889, to serve seven years for forgery (now out on parole); Charles Marriott, received from Belmont county in January, 1890, to serve three and a half years for grand larcency (now out on parole).

The following cases were rejected: Oscar Hurst, Shelby county, one year, forgery; John Rose, Athens county, three years, manslaughter; James Ratcliffe, Meigs county, fourteen years, manslaughter; George Bowd, Hamilton county, sodomy; Louis Polich, Hamilton county, arson; Allen S. Miller, Pike county, criminal assault; Thomas Skehan, Lucas county, burglary and larceny.

New cases were presented as follows: August Ziemer, received from Cuyahoga county, March, 1891, two years, shooting to kill; Archie McMillen, received from Cuyahoga county, April, 1889, ten years, criminal assault; Frank Fleming, received from Delaware county, January, 1888, ten years, attempted burglary; John Johnson, received from Cuyahoga county, November, 1874, murder in the first degree and commuted to life imprisonment; Louis H. Klayer, alias T. M. Schulte, received from Montgomery county, January, 1891, two years, grand larceny.

THE CASE IS ON.

Dr. Graves on Trial for the Murder of Mrs. Barnaby.

Denver, Col., Dec. 4.—A jury to try Dr. Graves for the murder of Mrs. Barnaby has been obtained. This morning District Attorney Stevens made the opening argument for the prosecution and occupied most of the day. Judge Furman opened for the defense and his argument was very elaborate.

MURDERERS' DAY.

Appealing to Ohio's Highest Court of Justice.

Fitzgerald, Seville and Elliott Take Up the Attention of the Learned Judges for a Day.

Columbus, O., Dec. 4.—Yesterday was murderers' day in the supreme court. The cases of Elliott, Fitzgerald and Seville were argued.

Prosecutor appeared in behalf of the state to present arguments for the motion to advance the case of Elliott. The defendant's attorneys were not present. The prosecutor simply stated that the case was a very important one and should come under that section of the statutes which provides that criminal prosecutions shall take precedence on the court calendar.

The prosecutor of Athens county was present and made an argument in favor of advancing the case of Dave Seville, the prize fighter, who killed Arthur Magesty in a mill at Athens.

When the case of William E. Fitzgerald, the Youngstown murderer, was called there was no response from his attorneys. Investigation developed that they were absent. Attorney General Watson called attention to the fact that they had been duly notified, and moved that the case be declared submitted without argument. The court ruled according to the motion. Subsequently a brief was received by mail from Fitzgerald's attorneys. The grounds on which the motion for leave to file a petition in error in Fitzgerald's case is based are that the jury was not regularly empaneled and the murder was not premeditated. All of the cases will probably be decided next Tuesday.

AN AWFUL CRASH.

Disaster on the New York & New England.

Many People Reported Killed and Injured.

An Open Switch Reported to Have Been the Cause.

Three Trains Piled Up with Their Human Freight.

Train Loads of Wreckers and Physicians Have Left for the Scene of the Disaster—The Cars Took Fire Immediately After the Collision.

Woonsocket, R. I., Dec. 4.—Telephonic reports give meagre details of a terrible accident on the New York & New England railroad at East Thompson, Conn., this morning.

The steamboat train bound east and two hours late ran into a freight train at a crossing and five persons were killed outright.

Another was burned to death in the smoker, which took fire, and several others were seriously injured, including at least one fatality.

The passenger engineer is among the killed. All traffic is blocked. A wrecking train from Norwood with 100 men has gone to the scene, as also has a special train with physicians from Boston.

The Long Island express was passing on the other track at the time and all three trains were piled up.

The engineer of the Boston train and his fireman were reported killed. The cars almost immediately took fire and doctors have been summoned from nearby points. The accident is said to have been due to an open switch.

LIBERAL VICTORY.

Wauseon, Dec. 4.—(Special)—Yesterday the license court denied the motion made by the "radicals" to have the injunction granted in the lower court suspended. This gives the "liberal" branch of the U. B. church the victory, and the property. A number of other cases were laying back awaiting the result of this test case.

WAR ON THE QUACKS.

Ohio Medical Men Are Up in Arms.

Outline of a Bill Which the Legislature of the State Will Be Asked to Make Into a Law.

Columbus, Dec. 4.—The convention of representatives from the medical colleges of Ohio, called for the purpose of formulating a medical practice act, was held at the Neil house.

The delegates were as follows: Drs. Charles A. L. Reed and G. I. Cullen, from the Cincinnati College of Medicine and Surgery; Charles E. Walton, from the Pulte and Eclectic colleges; N. Kinsman and Loving, from the Starling college, of this city; S. S. Scoville and W. M. Greenlee, from the medical department of the National Normal university; J. W. Shocky, from the Physo-Medical society; J. T. Baldwin, from the College of Physicians and Surgeons of this city, and E. H. Hyatt, from the Columbus Medical college.

A resolution was adopted favoring an independent examining board, and the following committee was appointed to confer with the legislative committee of Cincinnati with power to push the matter and present it to the legislature: Drs. S. S. Scoville, of Lebanon; T. C. Hoover, of Columbus; G. W. Mayhugh, of Westerville, and C. A. L. Reed, of Cincinnati.

Dr. C. E. Walton, on behalf of the legislative committee of Cincinnati, presented a bill which the committee had prepared. It was favorably received, and it was suggested to the committee that they make some few minor alterations in it and endeavor to have it passed by the next legislature.

The bill provides for appointment by the governor with the concurrence of the senate, of a state medical examining board of seven members, one retiring each year. The members of the board are to be paid their expenses and $5 a day each, for the time actually employed in the discharge of their duty.

The secretary is to receive a salary and not be a member of the board. The board will examine all new graduates in medicine and those desiring to practice medicine without diplomas, using its discretion as to the acceptance of diplomas in lieu of examination, and the certificates issued are to be recorded in the counties in which those holding them reside.

A fee of $20 for examination in medicine, surgery, and mid-wifery is to be charged each applicant who has not a diploma, graduates being charged nothing.

A fee of $10 is to be charged for examination in mid-wifery alone. Men on the medical staff in the United States army, navy and marine service, and resident internes of hospitals are exempt from examination.

Itinerant vender of drugs and medicines and men who advertise professions to cure or treat with medicine or drug any disease or infirmity will each be required to pay $100 per month and $200 will be inflicted for violations of the law and the presentation by an applicant of a diploma issued to another person is made equivalent to forgery. Each diploma must be accompanied by an affidavit to the effect that the person presenting it is the one to whom it was issued.

MAVERICK CLAIMS.

Boston, Dec. 4.—The 551 claims proved at the Maverick bank at noon Wednesday aggregated about $1,300,000. About 600 claims in all have been proved. The receiver deposited with the United States sub-treasury to-day $80,000, making a total of $2,300,000 now standing to the credit of the bank's creditors.

MATTER OF BOOKKEEPING.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Acting Commissioner Wilson, of the internal revenue bureau, says the irregularities in the collector's office at Pittsburg are not of a financial character. There is no shortage in the collector's accounts.

BIG BLAZE.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—Fire destroyed the drug mill of the Murray & Nickell Manufacturing company at Law avenue and Polk street. The loss will reach $100,000.

OF INTEREST TO SHIP OWNERS.

Can Americans Be Fined in England for Carrying Deckloads.

Liverpool, Dec. 4.—A case of great importance to American ship owners was tried here. Counsel for the Liverpool board of trade brought suit, in the name of that body, against Capt. Adams, of the American ship Henry Smith, for carrying a deck cargo of 6,300 cubic feet of pine wood contrary to the merchant shipping act.

Capt. Adams, replying to the charges made at the instance of Liverpool board of trade, protested that he was ignorant of the British law upon the subject, and claimed that in any case American citizens were exempt from the law.

In spite of this defence Capt. Adams was fined £10.

The matter of the ship Henry J. Smith's deck cargo will, it is understood, be promptly referred to the authorities at Washington.

The ship Henry J. Smith is of 1,033 tons register; she left Brunswick, Ga., on October 19 and arrived at Queenstown, November 19. She reached this port a few days later.

MRS. BRICE AT HOME.

The Senator's Wife Will Entertain at Her Lima Residence.

Lima, O., Dec. 4.—Mrs. Senator Brice, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Helen, arrived home last night from their trip abroad and will remain here for some time. To-day they will give a reception to which a large number of invitations were issued, at the residence, on the corner of Spring and Metcalf streets. The hours are from 2 to 5 o'clock.

TREATMENT OF THE INSANE.

Columbus, Dec. 4.—In the annual report of the Athens insane asylum, filed with the governor yesterday, the superintendent urges the advisability of the state establishing at some of her institutions for the insane a perfectly equipped pathological laboratory and the appointing of at least one expert scientist to give his attention to the hextology of the brain and nerve tissues, with a view, through published reports, of rendering possible a more intellectual treatment of the insane.

WAS A BLOODY BATTLE.

The Reported Chinese Engagement Confirmed.

The Rebel Leader Slain in the Contest,

And Six Hundred of His Followers Left Dead on the Field—Imperial Troops Equal to the Occasion.

Shanghai, Dec. 4.—An official report has been received by the Chinese government from Gen. Nich, commanding the troops in the Kinchow district, to the effect that he had met and engaged the rebels on November 27 and 28 and defeated them with great loss. The leader of the rebels and 600 men were killed.

A dispatch from Jeho also announces a successful engagement of the general commanding the imperial troops in that district with the rebels.

A dispatch from Tien Tsin says the senior British officer at that place has received advices from Niuchang stating that the revolt there has been suppressed and the rebels dispersed.

COLLIDED IN THE YARDS.

Another Evidence of Careless Railroading.

Lima, O., Dec. 4.—Switch engine No. 42 on the Lake Erie & Western railroad collided with passenger train No. 2, eastbound, of the same road, at the Kibby street crossing, on a curve. The switch engine was running on the time of the passenger train without orders. She struck the train with great force, breaking the pilot of engine No. 21. Martin Costello, fireman of the switch engine, was caught in the gangway and fatally injured. Thomas Hurley, the fireman of engine No. 21, was cut and badly bruised. T. H. Perry, chief engineer of the road, was on the train, and was passing from the smoking car back to the day coach. He was thrown over the seats and was badly cut about the head.

TARIFF REFORM THE CRY.

Cleveland's Letter to the Ohio Democracy.

A Ringing Letter from the Man Who Will Lead the Democrats to Victory in 1892.

Canton, O., Dec. 4.—The greatest event in the history of local democracy was the celebration of the fourth anniversary of Cleveland's tariff reform message by the Young Men's Democratic club here last night in a banquet.

Covers were spread for 400, and around the table were seated the flower of Ohio's democracy. The hall was beautifully decorated, and the strains of beautiful music filled the hall until the first toast was announced.

Toasts were responded to by Mayor John F. Blake, J. Irving Brooks, Manly Tello, John E. Monnet, Judge Blandin, Hon. L. A. Russell, J. A. Wakefield and other equally notable democrats.

Letters of regret were read from Gov. Campbell, Congressman M. D. Harter, Gov. William E. Russell, Lawrence T. Neal, Congressman W. L. Wilson, and ex-President Cleveland. The reading of the latter was received with cheers. The ex-president said:

"I regret that I am unable to attend the meeting to be held at Canton on the evening of the 3d of December under the auspices of the Young Men's Democratic club. The value and significance of this occasion, it seems to me, are found in the evidence it furnishes of a determination to push the issue of tariff reform in a practicable and effective manner.

"It is the duty of the democratic party to do this, and expediency as well as duty forbids any backward step or faltering.

"No party can succeed which deliberately relinquishes a principle upon which it seeks vindication, and no party ought to succeed which, having led honest men to the examination of a question vital to their interest and welfare, abandons their guidance and leaves them in unhappy doubt and perplexity.

"The confidence born of mutual congratulations over partial success and the associations of the claims of any individual to party promises or leadership ought not to direct us from the duty we owe to the people.

"Our obligation to them will not be discharged until in every hamlet and neighborhood throughout the land our cause is so presented to our countrymen that they can no longer be deceived through blindness nor corrupted through indifference. GROVER CLEVELAND."

The expression was decidedly in favor of Cleveland for president.

DYNAMITE BOMB

Fired at the Head of Russell Sage

By a Crazy Man Who Demanded Money.

The Would-Be Assassin Killed by the Explosion.

Intense Excitement in the Streets of New York.

The Office of the Well-Known Financier Completely Wrecked, the Whole Second Floor Torn Out and a Number of People Reported Killed.

New York, Dec. 4.—Shortly after 12 o'clock this noon a stranger entered the office of Russell Sage and demanded, forthwith, a million dollars.

Mr. Sage tried to talk to the man, but he refused to listen, and opening his satchel, took out a bomb and hurled it at the head of Mr. Sage.

The latter dodged and the bomb struck the wall with a fearful crash and it is believed killed three of the clerks.

Mr. Sage was badly, but not fatally injured.

It is believed the bomb was loaded with dynamite and it is reported that the man who threw it was killed.

Russell Sage was taken from his office and carried across the street to a drug store. He is badly burned about the face and shoulders, but his injuries are not serious. He gives the following account of the affair:

"Shortly after 2 o'clock a man whom I had never seen before entered my office. He inquired for me and demanded that I give him a million dollars.

"I tried to talk with him, but he became excited and opening the valise he took from it a long bottle and threw it at my head.

"I dodged the missile and it struck the wall opposite and instantly exploded. There was a fearful crash and I was thrown out of my chair. I do not remember much more about the affair."

The explosion completely wrecked the interior of the office, and several of the clerks were seriously, if not fatally, injured. The man who threw the bomb was instantly killed by the concussion.

Mr. Washington E. Connor, the well-known broker, was in the office at the time and was seriously injured.

The whole second floor of the building was badly damaged.

Russell Sage's office is torn out completely.

The dead man lying on the floor of the drug store is believed to be the man who asked for the money.

Four Killed.

The latest report is that four people were killed, one being the young lady typewriter in Russell Sage's office.

Mr. Slocum, the chief clerk of Mr. Sage, is badly cut about the head.

The safe was broken open and the securities scattered over the building and and street.

Mr. Slocum is making an effort to save as many of the securities as possible. Mr. Sage walked out of the building assisted by Officer Hummel. As he passed the door he said to the officer: "That was a terrible explosion. They meant it this time."

J. B. Thomas, of 136 West One Hundred and First street, who owns the cigar stand in the building, was struck by a portion of the falling ceiling, but was only slightly injured.

DID NOT ENTER THE TRAP.

Speaker Hysell Not to be Caught in the Scramble.

He Refuses to Indorse the Foraker Claims, and Says That Sherman Is the Better Man of the Two.

Columbus, Dec. 4.—Hon. N. R. Hysell, speaker of the last house, came in from Perry county to make an argument before the state board of pardons.

Perry county elected a republican representative at the last election, Axline by name, and there are some doubts as to whether he will support Sherman or Foraker in the senatorial fight.

It is said that he will be guided by the sentiment of his constituents, and just now there is a lively hustle to secure a popular expression of choice for senator among the Perry county faithful.

Scarcely had Speaker Hysell settled down inside the corporate limits of the city when he was approached by a Foraker emissary, who asked him to consent to be interviewed for publication in a Foraker organ regarding John Sherman's official career.

The emissary told Mr. Hysell of some of the questionable official acts of Sherman during his public career, which he (the Forakerite) desired to have criticised, and he was anxious to have the ex-speaker furnish the criticisms.

This was a neat move to secure democratic interference in the dirty fight now being waged among republicans for the senatorship, but it was a flat failure.

Mr. Hysell promptly declined, informing the hustler that he did not propose to mix in a purely republican fight and, furthermore, that he believed it would be a mistake to send Foraker to the senate to succeed John Sherman.

THIS IS THE LAST.

The Five-Dollar Period Positively Expires with the Close of December, Those Desiring Must Avail Themselves of the Rate Now —There Will Be No Further Extension.

One thing should be clearly and distinctly stated at this time. This is positively and unequivocally the last month of the $5 treatment. Patients who desire to take treatment under this offer must avail themselves of it at once. There will be no further extension of time. Drs. Copeland and Buffett have sought to give all an opportunity of availing themselves of this merely nominal rate. They have extended the time three times, and December is the last month in which the offer holds good. All patients being under treatment or placing themselves under treatment before January 1, will be treated at the rate of $5 a month until cured.

Drs. Copeland and Buffett are permanently established in Toledo, and are in no way like some would-be specialists, with high-sounding European titles, who travel from place to place plying their nefarious traffic on the sick and unfortunate until driven out and exposed by their outraged victims.

Drs. Copeland and Buffett do a legitimate practice and the results are given each week in the daily papers. Such an instance is given this week in the STORY OF MRS. HIGH.

Mrs. Royal High, of number 1108 Newberry street, in speaking of her little three-year-old daughter, said:

"For a year, previous to last June, my little girl was so badly afflicted with catarrh that we were afraid it would eventually cause her death. Her head was in a terrible condition. The nose very sore and stopped up continually; so much so that for weeks at a time she was not able to breathe through it, and could not get to sleep until I would, by the use of salves, or vaseline, get the nostrils cleared out a little.

"Her eyes became very much affected.

Mrs. Royal High's Baby Girl.

Whenever she caught a little cold, which seemed to be nearly all the time, they would become so inflamed and painful that she could not stand the light. For days at a time I would have to keep the blinds and shutters closed—making it so dark that I know it affected my own health—for the least light would cause the poor little sufferer to cry with pain. Her appetite was very poor, and instead of growing stronger as she should at her age, she was gradually failing.

"I was persuaded to take her to Drs. Copeland and Buffett, to see if they could not help her, and now cannot feel grateful enough for what they have done, for my dear little child

IS PERFECTLY WELL.

"Very soon after placing her under treatment she began to improve. Her appetite and strength returned. The inflammation of the eyes totally disappeared and she became a happy child, with a desire for play, which she had never had before, owing to her sickly condition.

"I felt afraid that her trouble would return should she catch cold, but am very thankful to say that such is not the case. It has now been four months since she has had treatment or taken medicine, and during that time, though she has taken cold once or twice, there has not been the slightest return of her old trouble."

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT

Wanamaker's Annual Effort is Filed.

One Cent Postage is Still in the Distance.

What the Chief of the Postal Service Has to Say on the Government Telegraph and Telephone Lines.

Washington, Dec. 4.—The postmaster-general's annual report, made public today, shows that, in spite of the fact that over $1,000,000 worth of lottery revenue has been lost during the past year, the postal deficit of $6,000,000 is surely disappearing, provided the same rate of revenue and expenses obtains on July 1, 1893.

The postmaster-general announces that the extension of the merit system of promotions, so successfully put in operation in the department lately, to the larger postoffices and the railway mail, has already been begun.

It appears that all of the lottery mail has practically been driven from the mails, and the fidelity of the department in trying to enforce this almost unanimous wish of congress is shown by statistics.

The postmaster-general recounts the successes of the postoffices, which quicken all incoming foreign mails received at New York from two hours to a week, and recommends the employment of a postoffice steam tug to ply in New York harbor between arriving steamers and the Jersey City and up-town ferries, so that several hours, perhaps a day in some cases, may be saved. He recommends private indemnity for lost registered mail, showing how cheap it would be to the department from the fact that only one piece out of every 12,000 or more of registered mail is lost.

The postmaster-general renews his recommendation for the division of the country into postal districts, and adduces many reasons why the reform would be beneficial. He shows that the county-seat visitations have resulted in the submission of 2,100 reports out of a possible 2,800, and that the condition of 45,000 offices is covered.

The postmaster-general recommends this year the adaptation of the telephone, as well as the telegraph, to the postal system, showing that it is not only the constitutional privilege, but the duty of congress, to utilize all the means of modern science for quickening the transmission of intelligence. He says upon these two points:

A year from next March the telephone patent expires, and unless congress acts promptly to authorize its adoption for communication among the people, it requires no stretch of the imagination to believe that in the next two years one immense syndicate will unite and control all the hundreds of telephone plants of the country.

One-cent letter postage, 3-cent telephone messages and 10-cent telegraph messges are all near possibilities under an enlightened and compact postal system, using the newest telegraph inventions.

Mr. Wanamaker believes in the full parcels post, but does not recommend it at present. He urges the abolition of personal suretyships of postmasters, as they are frequently under obligations, which damage the service. He proposes to extend the money order system everywhere.

It appears that nearly 8,000 miles of additional railway postoffice service have been established, 1,300 miles in the Pacific coast states, 3,500 in the other western states, 2,400 in the southern states.

Special attention was given to the Pacific states in reorganizing old routes to meet the rapidly changing centers of business and population, in strengthening old lines, in establishing new ones, in transferring service from steamboats to railroads, and maintaining the closest supervision of the whole service on the coast.

Mr. Wanamaker describes the pneumatic tube system of Berlin and London, and strongly recommends their adoption in this country. He insists that they would pay, and records several attempts at beginning such service.

A wonderful canceling machine, which prevents the delay of letters in the postoffices in stamping, has been employed, and still more wonderful automatic electric stamper is in process of examination.

Of the wonderful success of rural free delivery the report says:

The rural free delivery experiment is on trial in 46 communities. In Appendix A appears a tabulated statement showing a total increase of gross receipts in 39 of the 46 experimental free delivery offices amounting to $8,213.49, and a total decrease of gross receipts in seven of the offices amounting to $707.39. This leaves a balance of $5,506.10 of increase of gross receipts.

This is indeed a wonderful showing, especially when it is considered that the establishment of free delivery causes the patrons of the office in a large measure to discontinue the box delivery system, and that office consequently loses to some extent its box rents out of the gross receipts.

Numberless arguments why this service ought to be continued and enlarged are adduced, and it is shown how much similar efforts to extend the free delivery in the country are to be made along star routs and by means of suburban electric roads. Mr. Wanamaker recommends the passage of a bill to entitle towns of a population between 5,000 and 9,999 to the free delivery, and shows that the special delivery service in cities has increased one-third this year over the average of the last four years. He argues strenuously for postal savings. He reiterates his plan of last year and adds:

Another plan, quite simple and thoroughly practical would be to issue at the postoffice non-negotiable certificates of postal deposit in sums of $10, $20, $50 and $100, bearing interest at the rate of half a cent a day on the dollar ($1.82 1-2 per year) after the first of the month following the date of deposit, and the principal and interest payable on demand at any money order office by proper indorsement and identification under regulations of the postmaster general. The money deposited in each state to be reinvested, so far as possible, in the same state in school or municipal bonds by the postmaster general, subject to the approval of the secretary of the treasury.

The postmaster-general recommends the abolition of box rents at free delivery office in small places, urges the erection of smaller and more useful public buildings, and says on the 1-cent postage question:

"I have heretofore pointed out what 1 cent postage will cost the government. Let me repeat it briefly, in the light of the most recent figures. According to a careful estimate, based on the count of mail matter made in 1890, there passed through the mails during the year ended June 30, 1891, the following pieces of letter mail, to-wit:"

1,763,189,408 letters mailed to other postoffices, at an average of 2 cents each	$35,263,788 12
289,553,445 drop letters for local delivery, at an average of 2 cents each	5,791,068 90
37,627,249 drop letters, at an average of 1 cent each	376,242 40
Total postage	$41,432,129 51

To reduce letter postage to a uniform rate of 1 cent means exactly that the department will lose one-half of this amount of receipts. One-half would be $20,716,024.75.

I have heretofore stated that 1-cent postage will be successfully demanded in time. I believe that time is not far off. It certainly ought not to be asked for so long as any deficit appears in the revenues of the postal service; and here I wish to reiterate the further statement that in my judgment it ought not to be asked for then until many improvements and extensions of the service are provided for.

It would not be just and fair to a service upon which every effort has been spent for two years to make it self-sustaining, and which now promises to become so in the next fiscal year, to heap upon it, the instant the balance sheet becomes clear, a burden of millions, from which it could not recover for many years, and with the existence of which it would have to struggle year by year, and then often unsuccessfully, to obtain the appropriation absolutely required for its maintenance.

Of the pay of fourth class postmasters, Mr. Wanamaker says:

The fourth-class postmaster is deserving of far better compensation and far better consideration than he receives. I have tried to help him in the visitations of the county-seat postmasters. I propose to extend that same advantage another year, if the plan of supervisors is provided for by congress; some other way probably if it is not. The direct compensation of the fourth-class postmaster, however, can only be brought about as the result of a business proposition. In order to get more pay he must deserve it, either because he does more work or because he does a greater variety of it. I would give him a chance to do both. I would gradually but surely extend to him the management of the rural free delivery, and still more gradually, but none the less surely, the extension of the telegraph and telephone service in the country and the transfer of the postal deposits.

To do all this work he would necessarily be a more useful man, and, being always capable, he would be glad to have a chance to become a better postal man; and having all this extra work to do, and drawing, as formerly, a certain equitable part of the revenue of the department for his service, his pay would increase in a natural and thoroughly businesslike way. He would be doing better work and doing more of it. His condition would be improved and his position dignified. He would take an interest in his work. The standard required of candidates for vacancies would be higher, and the improvement upon the whole system, by the certain but almost imperceptible improvement in numberless minute details, would be incalculable.

Holding Up Trains Seems to be Just the Fad.

Bold and Successful Robbery Perpetrated on the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia.

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 4.—The midnight southbound express on the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia railroad has been held up and robbed by two masked men three miles east of Rome, Ga., near a curve.

Engineer Barrett saw a lantern waved frantically across the track and stopped the train. Two men got on between the coach and express car. Locking the passenger car door, they entered the express car and covered the baggage-master, Lewis, with pistols.

Lewis refused at first to hold up his hands but when threatened with death obeyed.

The keys to the safe were found and then the robbers pulled the bell cord. As the train slowed up they got off and took to the woods.

It is believed they got less than $1,000. The officers with bloodhounds are on the trail of the robbers who are supposed to be railroad men as they were in possession of lanterns and keys belonging to the company.

WHO RULES THE ROOST?

Interesting Developments in City Gas Department.

Doctor Jones Seems to Run Things to Suit Himself—What He Says Goes, See?—Last Night's Meeting of the Gas Board.

An interesting condition of things seem to exist in the city natural gas department. Developments at last evening's meeting of the board seemed to elicit the fact that Dr. Jones, and not the board of natural gas trustees, runs the department. It was intimated that this fact has been apparent for quite a long time, but it was not until last night that the truth came fully to light.

The board was about to adjourn when Mr. Backus remarked that he had noticed in Superintendent's O'Herron's report that the gas had been turned off from the boilers in the German Express building, but had been turned on again by the order of Dr. Jones. He (Backus) objected to discrimination in this matter. If the Express was getting gas why not the Bee, Blade and other papers? It was a very singular state of affairs.

Dr. Jones—"Who turned off the gas?"

Mr. Backus—"The board's employes undoubtedly, but it was turned on again by you."

Dr. Jones—"I am sure I did not go and turn it on myself."

Mr. Backus—"No, but it appears you gave the orders to have it turned on again."

Dr. Jones—"Who says so?"

Mr. Backus—"Mr. O'Herron says so in his report."

Dr. Jones—"You ask Mr. O'Herron?"

Mr. Parsons—"Any motion on the subject? There's nothing before the board."

Mr. Brown—"Oh, yes; there is this a very important matter, and it should be thoroughly investigated."

Mr. Backus—"I don't see the necessity for a motion. The board authorized all boilers to be cut off. The question is, has an individual member the right to override and countermand the orders of the board?"

Mr. Brown (to Superintendent O'Herron)—"Is the German Express the only case in which gas has not been turned off?"

Mr. O'Herron—"Yes, sir."

Mr. Brown—"I would like to know why the exception was made, and upon whose authority?"

Mr. O'Herron—"I say in my report, 'by order of Dr. Jones.' Perhaps I should have said, 'by request of Dr. Jones.'"

Mr. Backus—"For what length of time was the gas turned off?"

Mr. O'Herron—"For two hours. They had turned it on themselves when our men got there for the purpose of turning it on."

Mr. Brown—"Mr. O'Herron, I want to know if you recognize the authority of one member of this board or the instructions of the board as a body?"

Mr. O'Herron was silent. He was in a bad predicament—between the devil and the deep sea.

Mr. Brown—"This is a matter that should receive prompt investigation. If an individual member of this board has the right to run the department to suit himself, then I think it better for the balance of the board to resign."

Mr. Backus—"That's what I say."

Dr. Jones—"Where in our records do you find any reference to shutting off the German Express?"

Mr. Brown—"The order was general. There were no specific orders regarding shutting off the Bee or Blade, but they were shut off."

Dr. Jones—"Why not appoint an investigating committee?"

Mr. Brown—"None is necessary. The facts are patent, and it is not the first instance to my knowledge where an individual member has reversed the orders of the board."

Mr. Backus—"It's no wonder that complaints continue to come in when one member has such power."

Mr. Brown—"I think the superintendent should be called upon to explain why he obeys the orders of one member of the board rather than the specific instructions of the entire board. I want to know whether the board has any control over its employes."

Mr. Backus—"The orders to shut off all boilers were imperative, and the superintendent was doing his duty faithfully until interfered with by a member of the board."

Dr. Jones—"You are stating a falsehood, Mr. Backus, when you say I turned on the gas."

Mr. Backus—"I am stating no falsehood. I have simply reported what Superintendent O'Herron states in his report."

Dr. Jones—"Then he states a falsehood."

Mr. Backus—"Here is the evidence. I make no charges."

Mr. Brown—"I move you, Mr. President, that the manager be instructed to investigate and report why an exception was made in the case of the German Express."

The motion went through and the matter dropped.

Mr. Greene inquired the condition of the fund of money advanced to build lines.

Secretary Brown said $4,000 was in the fund when orders were issued to stop building lines, and $2,700 of this had been returned. The balance would be returned to the subscribers."

An application from a Hancock county farmer named Snyder for $25 for crops destroyed was referred to the committee on judiciary.

The committee on claims recommended the payment of 80 per cent. of the final estimate of the Kerlin contract amounting to $10,354, to be paid in certificates of indebtedness.

After some discussion the recommendation was adopted.

Manager Heston recommended that Crane Bros. be given gas for their greenhouses for the present. Adopted.

The matter of George Baer, greenhouseman, was refeered to the manager. Mr. Baer wants the money advanced or the gas.

An $18-line to make connection was ordered in Broadway.

Ransom & Randolph were given gas for a small boiler, meter measure, on the recommendation of the manager.

Manager Heston reported there were now in use 446 gas tips, and that 482 had been ordered. This made a total of 928, and brought in a revenue of $34.08 a year.

Tom Maher was granted a license as a gas fitter.

The final estimate of the Smith contract of $3,336 was referred to the committee on claims.

CAN DIE OUT OF PRISON.

THE AGE OF MUSCLE.

This is it undoubtedly. Never before in the history of the race did the cultivation of muscle receive such universal attention and encouragement. Even the gentler sex practices every branch of callisthenics affected by the trousered gender. This, of course, is well, for exercise is an essential of health. But to the feeble, the nervous and the dyspeptic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters affords a guaranty of primal vigor upon which a superstructure of muscularity may advantageously be built. Most genial and speedy of tonics, it is also the most thorough of regulators, entirely rectifying errors of digestion and bilious secretion, and promoting a healthy habit of body. It conquers and prevents intermittent and bilious remittent fever, rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble. The aged, infirm and convalescing derive immeasurable benefit from its use; it imparts a hearty relish for food and overcomes insomnia.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Good Program by Primrose & West's Minstrels—Old Jed Prouty To-Night.

Primrose & West's minstrels were greeted by a big house at the Wheeler's last evening and the hearty and frequent applause testified approval. The entertainment presented by the minstrels was of a high order, and replete with good things in the way of gorgeous costuming, new songs and dances, clever character sketches and specialities.

The floral first part displayed a fine effect in scenery, lights and costuming and many good songs were sung.

Another fine spectacle was the march of the Red Hussars with glittering uniforms and novel electrical effects.

The musical act of Drummond and Stahley was original and good, while the contortion act of the Brothers Borani was a revelation.

The minstrel features were carried out by such favorites as Primrose, West, Billy Emerson, F. W. Oakland, Wm. Thompson, J. Melville Jansen, Larry Dooley and others.

"Old Jed Prouty."

The attraction at Wheeler's this evening is the charming village play of Old Jed Prouty, with Richard Golden supported by the original cast and special scenic effects. Up to some fifteen years ago there lived in Bucksport, Me., according to local tradition, a great hearted, keen-witted old Yankee named Jedidiah Prouty, whose deeds and savings were the talk of every circle for miles around. He ran an old-fashioned tavern in an old-fashioned way, so peculiar to himself that no one would undertake to continue the establishment after his death in 1873; hence it passed away with him. Among the old fellows' assistants in that tavern was a youth named Richard Golden. Young Golden was repeatedly charged by the old man with being a better hotel clerk than "tavern assistant," and was ultimately found guilty on this account and sentenced to quit the tavern for the natural term of his life. Despite this visitation Mr. Golden has ever entertained the kindliest sentiments towards the aged inn-keeper and now seeks to perpetuate the old fellows' good memory through the medium of the successful play of Old Jed Prouty.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Senator Brice Quoted as Being in Favor of Cleveland.

Cleveland, Dec. 4.—No less authority than Calvin Brice is quoted to the effect that Cleveland can have the democratic national convention if the proper effort is made. One of the most prominent democrats in Cleveland made that assertion yesterday, and he considered it shameful that so little interest was manifested by citizens in the matter.

"Politics aside, and questions of the senatorship and habitation left out of the question, Mr. Brice has a great deal of influence in the higher councils of the party," he said.

"He represented Ohio in the national committee and was elected the chairman of the committee, a place of no little honor and responsibility. Mr. Brice has intimated that the party would be willing to come to Cleveland, and if we do not take advantage of that promise it will show a sad lack of public spirit."

HEALTHY. HAPPY. WHY?

Is he a bright child? Does he look healthy and happy? He is bright, and he is both healthy and happy. He is the little son of Mrs. Henry T. Bowers, wife of the well-known contractor and builder, who resides in Dorchester avenue, South Boston. Mrs. Bowers has had quite an experience with her children, which experience we give in her own words, as follows:

"I have a little boy two and one-half years of age, the perfect picture of rugged health, and also a little girl of four. I attribute their good health and good temper to the use of Dr. Hand's Remedies.

I have used, as occasion required, the entire line, and have had very marked results from the Colic Cure, Cough and Croup Medicine, and the Pleasant Physic. I have never had any but good result from the use of any of them."

No mother would make a statement like the above unless she knew wholly whereof she affirmed.

A COLUMN OF SMILES.

Before I end this yarn I think I will tell a story. We always used to tell stories, and sometimes a good many of them, every night after we got home from our day's shooting. There is a negro man at City Point so old that nobody knows how old he is—one of those old knock-kneed negroes about 100 years old, all twisted up and doubled up with rheumatism, who walks or crawls about with the assistance of two canes, and is known as Uncle Joe. One day the old fellow was slowly making his way through the village street, when along came a white man, a very well known character in that town, "half-seas over." He was pretty nearly "as full as a goat," and he happened to have his rifle with him, and a crack shot he is, whether drunk or sober. As soon as he saw Uncle Joe seated on the stump he sung out: "I say, Uncle Joe, let me put a potato on top of your head and shoot it off. I will give you 50 cents if I burst the potato or $1 if I kill ye."

The old negro looked up and replied: "Do you say, boss, you will give me 50 cents if you bust the potato or $1 if yer kill me?"

"Yes," was the reply.

"Well, den, go ahead, boss," said the old man.

The potato was placed on the top of the old negro's head, and the white man staggered off about thirty paces and drew a bead. The smoke and fire shot from the rifle and the potato spun high in the air.

"Well, I'll be shoved," said Jim, "I did do it, or I'm a sojer!"

He staggered up to Uncle Joe, fumbled around in two or three of his pockets, fished out a half dollar and handed it to him.

The old man seemed very much surprised. It was a long time since he had seen so much money. He looked at it lovingly, bit it, turned it over, looked up to Jim, and said: "Well, boss, I'se sorry I did not git de dollar."

The Old, Old Story.

Tom—Yes, we swore to remain true to each other. Then I went away for a long time.

Jack—And she was always in your thoughts?

"I thought a good deal of her—I mean I thought of her a good deal."

"And when you met you embraced her fondly, of course."

"I would probably have done so were it not for our surroundings."

"The encounter was public?"

"Yes, and both her husband and my wife were present.—Yankee Blade.

Why Binks Became Angry.

There is a telephone in their residence, and as it is used principally by Mrs. Binks and her friends it is perhaps natural that it should be identified solely with Mrs. Binks, and that Mr. Binks—well, Mr. Binks answered when the bell rang a few nights ago, and this is the conversation that took place:

"Hullo!"

"Well?"

"Is this Mrs. Binks?"

"No."

"I mean is this Mrs. Binks' telephone?"

"No; it's the company's."

"Well, is this Mrs. Binks' house?"

"I don't know. I'm beginning to think perhaps it is."

"What?"

"Yes. I gues it is. Everyone seems to think it is, anyway."

"Is Mrs. Binks' daughter there?"

"No."

"Well, who is this?"

"O, this is only Mrs. Binks' husband, the father of Mrs. Binks' daughter, the man who lives in Mrs. Binks' house and occasionally drives Mrs. Binks' horses. She got him with the house, you know."

"O, she did!"

"Yes, she did."

"Tough on Mrs. Binks, isn't it?"

That telephone will probably be taken out of the house.

Wanted—A Big Bell.

Young Lady—Good morning, Mr. Surplice. You stated yesterday that you wished some of the members of the congregation would solicit subscriptions for a bell.

Clergyman—Yes, Miss De Goode. It is my ambition to have the largest and finest bell in the city.

Young Lady—I have plenty of leisure and would like to help.

Clergyman—Very well. Here is a book. Don't waste time applying to families who live within two or three blocks of the church. They won't give any thing.—New York Weekly.

One Young Man Pleased.

As I was leaving Pittsburg, writes Max O'Rell, I was approached by a young man who, after giving me his card, thanked me most earnestly for my lecture of last night; in fact, he nearly embraced me.

"I never enjoyed myself so well in my life," he said.

I grasped his hand.

"I am glad," I replied, "that my humble effort pleased you so much. Nothing is more gratifying to a lecturer than to know he has afforded pleasure to his audience."

"Yes," he said, "it gave me immense pleasure. You see I am engaged to be married to a girl in town. All her family went to your show, and I had the girl at home all to myself. Oh! I had such a good time! Thank you so much! Do lecture here again soon."

After wishing me a pleasant journey he left. I was glad to know I left at least one friend and admirer behind me in Pittsburg.

Overheard at the Club.

Mr. Fellows—Mr. Whitehead, what makes you look so despondent this evening?

Mr. Whitehead—Well, Fellows, the fact is, I'm in trouble. I've been contesting my wife's will.

Mr. F.—Your wife's will? Why, I didn't know your wife was dead.

Mr. W.—Dead! no. That's what makes the contest so hard.—Boston Budget.

Naming a Fast Horse.

"A fast horse, is he?"

"Trots like a streak of greased lightning."

"Well, that's fast enough. What do you call him?"

"What Ma Says."

"What Ma Says! That's a strange name. Why do you call him that?"

"Because what ma says goes."

Financial Item.

"I've just mortgaged my house for $5,000," said a New Yorker to his broker friend. "Can you give me a pointer on something that's a purchase?"

"I can," replied the broker; "buy that mortgage on your house."—Harper's Bazar.

It Turned Her Head.

"Why did Lot's wife look back?" asked the pretty Sunday school teacher.

"I suppose a woman passed her with a new bonnet on," replied Johnny Cumso.—Epoch.

CONTRADICTORY.

Some Witnesses Who Testify Before the Coroner

That the Lake Shore Train Was at a Standstill

When the Crash Came on Saturday Night—Coroner Roulet Concludes the Taking of Testimony.

The inquest in the matter of the Lake Shore wreck was practically closed by the coroner yesterday afternoon. The testimony of the morning and the first part of the afternoon was unimportant, and it appeared as though nothing new would be brought to light. Just before the session closed a sensation was caused by several witnesses who gave evidence of a rather startling nature, directly contradicting some of the previous testimony. This related to the question as to whether the Lake Shore train was moving or at a standstill at the time of the collision.

All the previous evidence by the train men was that the train was moving six or eight miles per hour when run into from the rear, but yesterday disinterested parties testified that the train was standing still, and thus the matter is left.

The first witness of the afternoon was Martin Fay, formerly an engineer, who testified that on Saturday evening while on his way home to supper he crossed the St. Clair street bridge, nearly half a mile from the tunnel. As he was walking on the bridge he saw an east-bound Lake Shore passenger train stop at the tower and another just behind it stopped under the bridge he was on. Looking toward the west he saw three head lights, as he thought, on the east-bound track. Just as he was about to step off of the bridge he heard a crashing noise up the track, but did not think much of it, supposing it to be an electric car on one of the bridges. About an hour later he heard of the collision which had occurred at the time he heard this noise.

William H. Schroeder testified to having heard the crash, but this was all he knew.

William Crist, a young man boarding on Segur avenue, testified that on Saturday evening, he, with a companion, crossed the Field avenue bridge, which is very near the scene of the accident, as they were on their way to Lewinski's saloon at the end of the bridge. As he was crossing the bridge he noticed a Lake Shore passenger train going under and slacking down to a very low speed, as though about to stop. He remarked about it, but passed on and into the saloon and had just seated himself behind the stove when the crash came. He then ran out to the wreck, which was directly in front of the saloon and found the wrecked car within a few feet of where he saw the rear end of the train as he was crossing the bridge. He believed it was the same train.

James Bourbina, who was Crist's companion, told the same story in every particular and also believed that the train they saw was the one which was wrecked.

The Train Stopped.

John Lewinski, who keeps a saloon at the end of the Field avenue bridge, under which was the Lake Shore train at the time of the accident, stated that on Saturday evening he heard a train coming through the tunnel and looked out of his front window, which faces the tracks, to watch it. The train came down to the bridge slowly and came to a dead stop in front of his place. Just then a customer came in, he drew him a glass of beer and commenced talking to him, when he heard an awful crash outside. He looked out the front window again and saw the wreck just where he had seen the last car of the train which stopped. He believed it to be the same train as he had not heard it move on as he could have done if it had moved and another one taken its place. He thought it was about two minutes, perhaps not so much, from the time he first saw the train until the crash came.

The last witness was Edmund Jordan and his testimony was even more startling than that of Lewinski. Jordan is watchman at the T., St. L. & K. C. crossing, which road runs over the Lake Shore tracks on a bridge about 200 feet from the scene of the wreck. He stated that on Saturday night he was standing in the door of the watch shanty, looking down the Lake Shore tracks toward the Union depot. While there a Lake Shore passenger train passed him slowly and stopped with the rear coach about 300 feet away. He turned and went into his shanty, and an instant afterwards heard a train rushing through the tunnel. "I knew what was on the track ahead of it," said he, "and knew there must be a collision. I was badly frightened, but started to get out of my shanty, and before I got the door open the crash came. I didn't see the engine run into the train, and I was so frightened when I heard it that I scarcely know what happened afterwards."

"You were not frightened when you saw the train stop, were you?" questioned Mr. Draper.

"No, sir. I didn't know there was going to be an accident then."

"Did you see any bulls-eye or other lights on the rear end of that train?"

"I did not, but I won't swear that they were not there. I didn't notice any."

"Did you see any man on that platform?"

"I did not."

"Did you see any man on the ground with white or red lights?"

"I did not."

"Was that train blowing off steam from its heating apparatus?"

"I don't remember."

Mr. Potter cross-examined the witness closely, but did not break down this testimony in the least.

This closed the important part of the inquest, although the coroner will informally take testimony from several of the physicians who attended the persons that were killed. All of the evidence at the inquest has been taken down by Stenographers Emery and Carpenter, and the coroner will be furnished a copy of it in full.

The doctor states that he intends to take time to consider this, and a verdict will not be forthcoming for two or three weeks.

At the inquest yesterday the doctor stated that he had received the following two letters regarding the accident:

"Grand Rapids, O., Dec. 2, 1891.

"Dear Doctor:—Information has just come to my knowledge that you ought to know in your investigation of railroad accident. I am informed that it is the custom of the Lake Shore crews to take in their red lights on rear of train when about at the tunnel.

"The witness who gives this information is a son of Mr. West, of West & Truax. He is a frequenter of that train (No. 6), and says such a negligent custom exists. If you desire you might bring out this point. Of course, red lights would not be taken in on a through train, but this rear coach, it seems, is not a through one. Very truly,

"J. A. BACKUS, M. D."

"Washington C. H., O., Dec. 2, 1891.

"Coroner Roulet, Toledo, O.:

"Dear Sir:—I was on the F. & P. M. train when it ran into the Lake Shore train. Just after we left the Junction the conductor of our train entered our coach and announced that the fast train was three minutes ahead of us, and that those on our train who wished to board it to get ready, as we would have but a few minutes' time to make the transfer at Toledo. When the crash came nearly every one in our coach was standing in the aisle, as they were putting on their wraps in getting ready to get off quickly.

"Yours respectfully, J. D. KERR."

All of the patients at St. Vincent's hospital, with the exception of Mr. James, the actor, are getting along very nicely, and although they cannot yet be pronounced out of danger it is thought complete recovery is assured. Mr. James passed a bad night, and is very ill to-day.

A HERO OF THE WRECK

Lies Seriously Burned at His Home on Segur Avenue.

Jack Meyers, an employe of the Lake Shore, lies seriously ill at his home on Segur avenue. He was the first to the rescue at the terrible wreck in the Lake Shore yards, but somehow the matter has been hushed, and the noble services rendered by him to the entrapped victims of the wrecked car might never have been known but for the fact that his burns and bruises called for medical services, and hence publicity.

He rushed into the car, and in spite of the scalding steam removed one after another of the injured. Others have taken the credit for this brave work, but the fact that they escaped uninjured proves the falsity of their claim. It was morally impossible for anyone to have entered the car without coming in contact with the steam, and consequently getting scalded.

On the night of the wreck a prominent employe was dilating to Superintendent Whittlesey of his "brave" work at the rescue. He had not a mark, bruise or burn to show for it, and it is a question if he was near the wreck at the time.

Meyers, it is said, will get no recompense as he was not "on duty." Not on duty. The Lake Shore has not money enough to recompense the brave fellow for such service as he rendered the hapless victims Saturday night.

M. J. ENRIGHT AGAIN.

His Property Ordered to be Sold by the United States Court—Other Indictments—Admitted to the Bar.

The case of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company v M. J. Enright came before Judge Ricks in the United States district court yesterday, and a decree reforming descriptions of certain mortgaged property of Enright's granted. The flaw was in the description, and this the court promptly rectified.

The amount of the mortgage is $3,260.08, and covers 26 2-3 acres of land in Wasington township and a lot on Washington street and one on Adams street. B. F. Wade was appointed special master to sell the property. Besides taking the costs of trial in lower and upper courts out of the proceeds of the sale, there is also a claim of Treasurer Hunter's of $146.30 for unpaid personal taxes. What remains after paying this and amount of the mortgage will be turned over to the court for disposal.

In the case of Thos. A. Reiter v the Crystal Oil company complainants were given 10 days in which to amend bill of complaints.

Mr. Stephen Brophy, a rising and brilliant young Toledo attorney, was admitted to practice in the United States court.

The grand jury made another partial report yesterday afternoon. True indictments were found against the following for failure to deface revenue stamp: Geo. Saco, Toledo; Fred K. Hoffman, Toledo; Joseph Oren, Gilboa; John J. Burkhart, Pleasant Bend; Theo. Saladin, North Findlay; Eli Mumaugh, Van Wert; A. McClure, Gilboa; Nicholas Miller, Toledo.

The grand jury is expected to make its final report this afternoon.

Pleaded Guilty.

This afternoon the following plead guilty in the United States court of failure to deface revenue stamps and were fined $10 and costs each: David Joffa, Philip Being and John H. Washmuck.

THE UNION OF UNIONS

Holds Its Monthly Meeting and Elects Officers.

Committee Appointed in the Police Matron Business—School Suffrage Agitation—Various W. C. T. U. Announcements.

The monthly meeting of the Union of Unions was held in the Central Congregational church yesterday afternoon. The question of school suffrage for Ohio women was discussed, and it was decided to hold a public meeting to advocate the same, asking all temperance organizations to co-operate. The ladies present were requested to write Governor-elect McKinley, and to ask others to write him, requesting him to favor the granting of such suffrage in his inaugural address.

The final report of the finances connected with the late Ohio W. C. T. U. convention held in Toledo showed the receipts from all sources to have been $283.95; disbursements, $250.20. The balance left over has been equitably divided among the W. C. T. unions of the county.

On motion the Union of Unions gave a pledge to furnish one room in the new Protestant hospital, the same to be known as the temperance room.

Mrs. Louise Eck, county superintendent of the franchise department of the W. C. T. U., reported that she was expecting the arrival of school suffrage petitions which she should ask the W. C. T. U. ladies to sign and circulate.

Mrs. A. P. Stevens, from the Toledo Suffrage society, then read the report of the suffrage committees on police matron for November and December, showing the unsatisfactory manner in which the work of the matron was being done, and explained the situation further. Mayor Emmick had stated that if the matron's work was not being properly done, all necessary changes should be made, and that he was ready to visit the matron with a committee of the ladies. The suffragists had appointed a committee, and it was hoped W. C. T. U. committees would be appointed, as this was pre-eminently work appealing to Christian women.

On motion a committee was appointed from the Union of Unions to act in the matter, and to visit the station, the committee consisting of Mrs. Frances J. Sumner, Mrs. C. R. Southland, Mrs. Maude Dutton.

Election of officers was then entered on, and the following were chosen to serve the next six months: President, Mrs. Louise Eck; recording secretary, Mrs. Affie Hitchens; financial secretary, Mrs. Emma Nicholas; treasurer, Mrs. T. L. Quinn.

The next meeting of the organization will be held, Thursday afternoon, January 7, in the Washington Street Congregational church, upon invitation of the Henrietta Monroe W. C. T. U.

The following W. C. T. U. meetings are announced:

The first union is holding a parlor meeting this afternoon with Mrs. C. R. Southland, Adams street.

The Central union meets next Tuesday afternoon, at 2:30, with Mrs. Louise Eck.

The Narcotic quarterly meeting will be held with Mrs. E. A. Edwards, 717 Monroe street, Wednesday afternoon next.

The Sunday afternoon meetings, conducted by the Loyal Legion and Ys, in connection with Lincoln W. C. T. U., in Scharf's hall, corner Langdon street and Western avenue, are growing in interest and attendance.

To any and all of these meetings those interested in temperance reform and kindred work are cordially welcomed.

A WORD FROM TEXAS.

Pneumonia is followed by Lung Abscesses.

Years of Lingering Suffering---Death Seems Sure.

Fact Stranger Than Fiction.

Mr. William Roland, of Abilene, Tex., eight years ago had pneumonia. When he became well enough to be able to get out again it was found that abscesses had formed in the left lung. Soreness over the lungs and a continuous cough, raising quantities of corruption, which was discharged from the lung abscesses, caused his physicians to despair of ever being able to cure him. He employed three physicians, one after another, took various proprietary medicines, and yet his disease rapidly gained ground. For four years he was confined to the house, utterly unable to get any relief, and his constitution was slowly giving way to the drain on his system. Hearing of Pe-ru-na, as a last resort he tried a bottle of it, which so improved his symptoms as to encourage him to keep on taking it. After taking it for a few months he was entirely cured, and is today a healthy, strong man. His recovery was a surprise to his physicians and friends, and all are astonished at the curative power of Pe-ru-na in such desperate cases.

This was undoubtedly a case of catarrhal consumption in an advanced stage. Pe-ru-na has cured many similar cases, and no doubt there are thousands of cases of consumption given up as hopeless which this remedy would cure. For all chronic diseases of the head, throat and lungs, coughs, colds, catarrh, la grippe and influenza, Pe-ru-na is a specific.

BROKE THE ICE.

A Small Boy Drowned in the City Pond.

A Small Lake That Is a Nuisance and a Menace Causes the Death of Little Adolph Kuelleng.

The first victim of the ice this season met his death yesterday in the person of little Adolph Kuelleng, whose parents live at 1218 Michigan street. The boy with several companions was playing about the city pond located between Champlain street, Michigan street, Bush street and Stickney avenue. There was a thin coating of ice over the pond, and the boys were testing it when little Adolph broke through and sank only about two feet from shore, but where the water is about eight feet deep. His companions gave the alarm, and the little fellow's dead body was taken from the water about ten minutes later by a man named John Collins. The body was taken to the Buckeye brewery, Dr. Gardiner was called, and every possible effort was made to resuscitate the boy, but to no avail. Coroner Roulet was soon on hand, and after viewing the body rendered a verdict of accidental drowning.

The drowned boy was 7 years and 10 months old, and an only son.

There is much complaint against this pond by the citizens in the vicinity, as it serves no purpose, and only remains a disease breeder and a constant menace to the children. The property belongs to the city, and is a part of the old marsh lands, but as the streets have been filled up around it the hollow is left in the shape of a good-sized and deep lake. As a matter of public safety it should be drained if not filled up.

LOPPY WILL BE THE NEXT.

An Electrocution to Take Place Next Week.

The Prisoner Is Resigned to His Fate—Warden Brown to Get Even with the Newspapers.

Sing Sing, N. Y., Dec. 4.—Warden Brown of Sing Sing prison, has everything in readiness for the execution next week of the murderer Martin D. Loppy, who has been awaiting death in Sing Sing for a month.

Very little preparation had to be done, as the machinery of death was kept in the same condition as it was left after the fatal work in executing Smiler, Slocum, Wood and Jugiro last July.

The warden, however, will make preliminary tests of the apparatus as required by law. Loppy is reconciled to his fate. He is a model prisoner. Warden Brown says he will not allow the newspaper reporters one-half as much liberty as they had last July. He will tell them when the execution will take place and as much of the details as the law allows. The warden has sent invitations to the witnesses, but will not tell their names.

EMPTY HOUSES

Being Entered by Sneak Thieves—A Warning.

Owners of houses that are vacant will do well to look closely after their property as thieves have again commenced operations on empty houses and steal everything they can get hold of besides doing much more damage. Several houses in the most populous part of the Seventh ward were entered by sneak thieves last week, and all the lead pipe and other fixtures carried away. These things were roughly torn loose from their fastenings, and entail much more damage to the property than the value of the stuff stolen, as it can only be sold for old junk.

It is officially promulgated that Mr. Foraker expects the caucus votes of both Flickinger and Heller. Will he get them?

At the meeting of the gas trustees last night the question was asked, "Who runs this business, anyhow?" A very pertinent question, which the public would like to know.

The republicans have about concluded to abandon the Mexican plan of ousting Col. Brice from his seat in the United States senate. Public sentiment is with Mr. Brice.

It is what might be called a home thrust for Hoosiers in his own state to be organizing to defeat the nomination of President Harrison. Hoosiers in Washington protest.

Chauncey Depew is mixing politics and business in a western tour, and he appears to be the advance agent of the Blaine aggregation. He says Blaine will be the nominee and will have no opposition in the republican convention.

A very forceful paper on the subject of the great lake waterways and their improvement is printed in this impression of the Bee. It is from the pen of Hon. Abner L. Backus, who has passed full fifty years in the Maumee valley and who has been intimately connected in a business way with lake commerce. The paper is worthy of careful perusal.

Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt says the postmaster general violated both spirit and letter of the law in the removal of the postmaster at Baltimore. The postmaster general, through the administration organ in Washington, says Commissioner Roosevelt intrigued to force the removal of the postmaster in Milwaukee. Produce the evidence, gentlemen; accusation is cheap. This administration is solemnly pledged to obey the law of civil service reform.

Ten millions dollars less revenue comes to Uncle Sam this year than last, and 57,000,000 dollars more expended, is the way the record reads and the fiat goes forth "keep down the estimates." The deficit and depleted treasury grows to have an appalling look even to the republicans in power who boasted, with significance, that they would make "the surplus" fly. The condition of the country and treasury to-day shows with what vengeance the promise has been kept.

The Sandusky Register should not infer that the Bee objects to Mr. Crisp because it objects to Congressman Haynes' lame excuse for opposing Mills. On the contrary, it is probable that no other member of congress is so well qualified in many particulars for speaker as Mr. Crisp. He is an ardent tariff reformer, an able parliamentarian and a courtly gentleman—three good qualities at this time. But Mr. Haynes was not justified in saying Ohio democrats are not of the same tariff belief as Mr. Mills. Fully nine-tenths of them are. Perhaps the other tenth are as selfish as the general run of protected monopolists.

"THE INDUSTRY OF CORRUPTION"

Lieut. Allen R. Foote, special agent of the census bureau in the line of electrical industries, founder of the "Society of Loyal Volunteers," and chairman of its national board, has a paper in the December number of the Forum which is eliciting much attention from thoughtful people. It embodies the protest of the "Loyal Volunteers" against the "degradation by pensions," the outgrowth of the present system. He considers this the most vital question before the country to-day. He also asserts, and with justice, that the men to discuss it fairly and dispassionately are they who served in the army and navy and who suffer therefrom. Mr. Foote reminds his readers that he has the right to demand a hearing. He was in the midst of hissing bullets at the first battle of Bull Run and he marched with his company in the grand review at Washington in 1865, losing not a day's service between those dates, except when suffering from a wound received at the battle of Fair Oaks. He says: "I have written my record with blood, but I am not of the mercenary horde who demand pensions for duty done, for my loyalty is not and never was for sale." He considers the present method of the pension bureau "an industry of corruption" which defames the loyal soldier who has too much sense of honor to enter into such a scramble, and in the name of the society of Loyal Volunteers he asks and demands a revision of the laws that make such corruption possible. He would first sift the pension roll of those who are not in need, and of those who are able and willing to earn their living; then of those who are able to support themselves in part. To those who are left, utterly disabled, he would give liberally and in abundance. To the other cases mentioned he would have all possible aid given in the way of finding employment. In the present basis for pensions quoted from the amended law, the certificate of a man's discharge need not be filed, unless called for. A minimum service of ninety days is all that is required, mental or physical debility (not necessarily due to military service), and affidavit that the applicant is "not able to support himself by manual labor." The writer considers this but a bribe to volunteers. His witnesses are not compelled to swear to anything except their belief in the identity of the person, and that they themselves have no interest in the claim. They are not asked to certify as to their belief of his inability to earn his support, if not by manual labor, then possibly by mental labor. Then, says the writer, as if the bribe would not be strong enough to tempt the volunteers, sixty thousand pension attorneys are commissioned to hunt up old soldiers and urge and coax them to swear that they are "unable to support themselves by manual labor," and so get their money, more or less of which the attorney gobbles, along with the ten dollars allowed him by law. These attorneys are reinforced by senators and representatives in congress who in one year have made 154,187 requests on the commissioners (these requests mean money for the attorneys and political influence for the congressman). Under such conditions, it is said, need the country be astonished to learn that the total number of claims requiring attention has mounted to 1,075,009. The commissioner of pensions has 6,246 subordinates, industriously at work under him. Is it any wonder that the total payment for the year reached $123,432,202.35? For the fiscal year ending June, '92, it is estimated that $10,000,000 more will be added to the above disbursement. The attorneys realized approximately $6,000,000 in regular fees from the number filed since the act of June 27, 1890. Up to June, 1890, for the year 66,637 claims were allowed; up to June, '92, for the year the number will reach 350,000.

Well may Lieut. Foote call it an "industry of corruption." That facetious republican who said "next to a pension attorneyship he would like a territorial governorship, if he wanted speedily to become a millionaire," knew whereof he spoke. The honest men of the country, irrespective of party, must join Lieut. Foote and his loyal volunteers in demanding a thorough overhauling of the whole bureau of corruption which is run not in the interest of the veteran soldier at all, but as a political machine with an arm attachment into the United States treasury to pay awards. It is in the interest of the loyal soldier and the needy one that the demand is made. There is no need of 100,000 paid clerks to negotiate between an honest government and an honest soldiery.

NATURAL GAS FINANCES.

The finances of the city natural gas department are in a worse condition than at any time in the history of the plant. Citizens who advanced money for pipe extension, and who cannot now be supplied with gas, demand the return of their money. The manager has used the December receipts for gas to refund such advance payments, and the treasury is practically empty. What is to be done in this emergency is a matter of conjecture, and is worthy the effort of some Napoleon of finance. What ought to be done is for the trustees to make a clean, clear-cut, truthful statement of the whole business to the public. Theories and speculations should be eliminated and promises avoided. Open the books to the citizens. Let the people know all about it, take the public into confidence, then something may be done to improve the condition and strengthen the situation. The trustees can't play lone hands all the time. They ought to give their partners—the public—a little chance.

AN ORNAMENTAL DEPARTMENT.

Primarily and theoretically the state department which is presided over by a citizen whose title is "railroad commissioner," is for the good of the public. Secondarily and practically the office is for the salary attached and for the political good the incumbent can do the governor, who by law selects the commissioner. Nor have the conditions here mentioned ever been different in Ohio. The commissioner receives reports of the several railroads which are operated in the state, compiles a general report, receives and uses numberless railway passes, and, generally, is as useful to society as one of the brass-mounted, dress-parade staff officers of the governor.

Among the duties of this officer, which the law prescribes, is to inspect the railways and exercise such authority in the management and regulations of the companies as will conserve the safety and convenience of the public. This implies official inspection and supervision of the yards and rules governing the same. The department has never intelligently or satisfactorily performed this duty. If it had no such criminal loss of life could happen as occurred in the Lake Shore yards in Toledo last Saturday. There are other danger spots in Toledo. There are hundreds of them in Ohio. The railroad comissioners are too much a part of and influenced by railway corporations to be of any particular benefit to the state. A thorough reorganization of the department is demanded. The ornaments and frills should be cast aside and the practical and the useful should be more prominent. For the past fifteen years the department has been a useless and expensive ornament.

Every time New York city peeps about the democratic convention, the Bartholdi pedestal (built by subscriptions from working men and women), the Grant Monument (prospective), and the Centennial Memorial arch (about to think for lack of means) are hurled at its head and the metropolis dodges and hushes its clamor.

Women who bear royal titles, as a rule pay dearly for the privilege. The most brutal disclosures on record in the police courts of the old countries always concern the nobility, titled aristocracy and "gentlemen."

When once an Ohio senator is chosen, and the speaker of the House takes his chair, it will be an amusing diversion to look over the "figgers" that have been made.

"The old Chinese bottle is too weak to hold the new wine poured into it" is the way the rebellion in that country is metaphorically stated.

No Democrat Afraid of Freedom.

All democrats are not free-traders, but all free-traders are either democrats already or are ready to become so when they see the democratic party keeping up its fight for a tariff for revenue only. And as between pleasing free-traders and pleasing either Ben Butler or McKinley trade protectionists every sensible democrat will be for pleasing the friends rather than the enemies of the party. No democrat is afraid of freedom.—St. Louis Republic.

The Last Court Will Settle It.

A suit to test the validity of the McKinley law is pending in the supreme court of the United States. Courts are uncertain and there is no telling what will be the outcome of the suit, but fortunately in this case the supreme court is not the court of last resort. The people will vote the bill out of the statute book next November, no matter what the court decides.—Kansas City Star.

How St. Paul May Lead.

St. Paul, Minn., not to be outdone by Minneapolis, has formally entered the race for the democratic national convention. If she should happen to succeed she will be one ahead of her rival, in that the successful candidate will be named there, while Minne could only boast of having the convention which named the man that will be defeated.—New Orleans New Delta.

The Peace of Warsaw in Ireland.

Mr. Balfour proudly declares that he has restored order in Ireland. It is the sort of order, however, which reigned in Warsaw on a certain memorable occasion, effected by similar means, and which will possibly be followed by similar consequences.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

There is no war in Europe and yet Editor Murat Halstead has sailed for Europe. He will spend two month in visiting foreign capitals and other places of note.

Miss Fannie Davenport has purchased 380 acres of land near Pomona, Cal., not far from the home of Mme. Modjeska. Miss Davenport intends to build a large ranch house on the property and establish game preserves and immense poultry yards there. She expects to spend $80,000 in improving the land.

Mark Twain, who went to Berlin recently, has been the object of much interest to the people of Germany's capital. His portraits have been printed in the daily and weekly papers; long articles upon his life and works have been written, and numerous accounts have been given of his fabulous wealth.

THE GREAT LAKE WAYS OF COMMERCE.

The importance of the movement to lay before congress the absolute necessity of taking immediate steps to increase the depth of water in our harbors and lakes to meet the demands of commerce can but be admitted by every one conversant with the magnitude of the tonnage in transit from east to west, and west to east along the great chain of our northwestern lakes. Especially is that apparent, when the official statistics show that the tonnage passing up and down the St. Clair river during the 142 days of navigation in 1890 was greater than that entering in and going out of the New York harbor, coastwise, during the same time. And that the tonnage passing through the Soo canal in and out of lake Superior was, during the same time greater than that passing through the great Suez canal during the entire year of 1890.

If this magnitude of vessel tonnage has been developed in the comparative infancy of this great nation, what, may I ask, will be the extent of it 50 years hence, when we shall have a population of over 160,000,000? As the population increases competition will necessarily follow in mercantile, agricultural and manufacturing circles, a decreased cost of carriage will necessarily follow as result, which can only be successfully met by increased depth of water along our natural and artificial water ways, so as to enable vessels to treble their present tonnage carrying capacity, to meet the contingent demands that will be made upon them ere the nation shall have scored another half century of its existence.

It is evident that it is a matter of little consequence whether the shrinkage of lake Erie's water surface has resulted from a lack of rain or snow fall in the upper lakes' great water shed, or from other causes—the fact confronts us all that the government should appropriate the necessary money to commence the work of deepening the channels leading to all the lakes' important harbors, as well as the Detroit and St. Clair rivers—so as to make eventually a uniform depth of water of 20 feet at least.

After an intimate knowledge of the stage of water in lake Erie, as a resident in this valley of more than half a century, I have witnessed many changes in its surface, and am of opinion that its present low stage is the result of the lack of rain and snow fall during the past three or four years.

I entirely accept the statement made a few years ago by an eminent civil engineer, who had carefully gauged the water discharge of the Niagara river, as it passed over the falls, and at the same time had gauged the water at Lewiston as it passed into lake Ontario, and found as the result of those measurements, a greater quantity of water passing out of the Niagara river at Lewiston than he found passing over the falls. His theory, as expressed, was that a subterranean passage connected lake Erie with the whirlpool below the falls, and as a result produced the rotary motion as seen at the whirlpool. If that be true, in the absence of the usual amount of rain fall in the great basins of the upper lakes during the past few years it can be readily understood why the decline in the surface of water in lake Erie has been greater than at other points to the north and west of us—on lakes Huron, Michigan and Superior.

The important convention to be held in Detroit this month should take up and thoroughly discuss the importance of having the government take charge as owner, the management of the great Erie canal as the most important connecting water way between the northern lakes and tide water at New York, and correspondingly increase its depth and dimensions to meet the coming demands of the great nation of people of the west and northwest—to move their products, ores and other property. As a precedent for the government's owning and controlling canals, we of Ohio, recognize the fact that by Ohio legislative enactment the Muskingum improvement canal—extending from Dresden, Muskingum county, to Marietta, on the Ohio river, was conveyed to and accepted by the government with the view of protecting the commerce of the Ohio river, which is of insignificant importance when compared to the control and management of the Ere canal.

It may be well to understand whilst discussing this great and important water way improvement question, that more than 80 per cent. of the products of the wool and cotton spindles, and the boot and shoe industries of the New England states as well as the state of New York, find a market for their manufactured goods west of the easterly line of the state of Ohio, and as a result, are as deeply interested in urging the government to enter at once upon this great work, as are the people west and northwest of that line.

Figuratively, it is well enough to speak of accepting the Canadian route via of the St. Lawrence river to the seaboard as a solution of this great inland transportation scheme, but in the absence of any probable annexation receiving the indorsements of the two nations, we had better confine our improvements within the territory of the United States—instead of paying tribute to another nation.

ABNER L. BACKUS.

Toledo, December 4.

HOW GOES THE FIGHT?

Col. S. A. Court of Toledo Away Ahead, and so is Hon. J. W. Winn of Defiance.

Returns are coming in very fast from the subordinate lodges of the state relative to the election for officers of the Grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias, and through the kindness of Grand Secretary Court the Bee is able to give an idea of how the wind is blowing.

To begin with, Mr. Court's natural modesty only allows him to state that he will have at least 1,500 majority in his race for re-election, and it looks as if he was not far wrong.

Phil H. Dorn of Cleveland, for grand chancellor; H. W. Lewis of Dayton, for grand vice; M. A. Bridge of Columbus, for grand Master at arms, and Edmund Hitchens of Cleveland, for grand master of exchequer, have no opposition. Dr. Suthen of Middletown is far ahead of J. A. Carter, his opponent for grand prelate. Ward of Kenton is in the lead for grand inner guard, and Hon. John W. Winn of Defiance seems to have a cinch on the grand outer guard's berth, as he is about 400 ahead, and still running.

UNFORTUNATE AFFAIR.

A Man Loses His Only Eye and Becomes a County Charge.

Tiffin, O., Dec. 4.—Joseph Pirrung, of this city, lost his eyesight in a peculiar manner a few days ago. For several years he has been blind in his left eye, and one day last week he was assaulted by Peter A. Houck, a justice of the peace for Hopewell township, and struck in the right eye, which was so badly injured that it has since fallen from its socket.

Pirrung is poor and his wife insane, and the loss of his vision will make the family a county charge. It is said that Houck will be sued for damages by the friends of the unfortunate man.

FLOUR FOR THE POOR.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 4.—The millers propose sending a shipload of 45,000 barrels of flour to starving peasants of Russia. Five thousand American millers will be asked to co-operate The Russian minister at Washington has been communicated with and in his absence the charge d'affaires at New York has laid the matter before his country. Railroads are willing to give the transportation, and the deal will be closed as soon as the Russian minister hears from home. Minneapolis millers will give 20 carloads of the cargo.

London, Dec. 4.—A Paris dispatch says that the condition of Dom Pedro has so much improved that his physicians now believe him to be out of danger.

What Christianity Means.

Christianity, if it means anything, means sixteen ounces to the pound, three feet to the yard, a just weight and just measure. It means honesty in all dealings, purity in all conversation, a charity as broad as the race, unflinching integrity, sympathy, humanity to man, loyalty to God.—Exchange.

That Representative Griffin is more busily engaged in hunting votes for speaker than he is in conducting his primary election as to the choice of his constituents between Sherman and Foraker.

That Moses Math regards it as a good omen that Governor-elect McKinley is making selections from the newspaper men's ranks, and banks on his reputation as a circulator to tree the deputy oil inspectorship at Toledo.

That Col. S. A. Court sits back with a contented air as he reads the returns from subordinate lodges showing him several hundred votes ahead of his opponent in the race for Grand Keeper of Records in the state organization of the Knights of Pythias.

LAFAYETTE STREET BRIDGE.

It Will be Open to the Public Next Week.

Harbor Master Skeldon yesterday finished the temporary wooden approach to the Lafayette street bridge. Street Commissioner Bower is rapidly removing the mountain of dirt that filled the street at the east end of the bridge, and it is thought that all will be clear for travel by Monday.

This bridge has been closed to the public since last spring, when the sewer caved in, but now that temporary repairs have been made the immense traffic over the Perry street bridge will be considerably relieved.

BLAINE'S BILL OF HEALTH.

It is reported from Washington that Mr. Blaine is in robust health. Reports from all over the country indicate that his boom is ditto.—Chicago Times.

Mr. Blaine's physician says he is stronger than he was four years ago. But the important question would seem to be, is he stronger than he was eight years ago?—Boston Herald.

The burning questions as to the appetite, muscles and physical condition of Secretary Blaine seems now to be definitely settled. But the not less burning question whether he will take a presidential nomination is still causing a good many of his countrymen to lie awake every night.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

In all the circumstances of the case it can have but one rational meaning, and that is that Mr. Blaine does not intend again to decline the call of his party to be its candidate for President. Mr. Blaine has the refusal of the nomination. The announcement of his restored health is tantamount to a notification that he will accept it.—New York World.

The Blaine movement in Indianapolis is not calculated to impress Mr. Harrison as a particularly loyal and meritorious act. A Harrison movement in Augusta would be a suitable rebuke, but Harrison movements are not easily accomplished. About the only thing left for Mr. Harrison to do is to declare his unalterable opposition to a second term save in the event of Mr. Blaine's illness.—Kansas City Star.

What better send off could any presidential candidate have than Mr. Blaine gets from his doctor? The public is informed that the late invalid—

Enjoys better health than he did three or four years ago;

That he is a well man;

That he eats well and sleeps well;

And that he will be in still better trim six months from this time than he is now.

There is a whole chapter of availability, present and prospective, in this bill of health. Mr. Blaine's attending physician is a dabster at his business.—Philadelphia Record.

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES.

Catholic Literary Society Elects Officers East Side Y. M. C. A.—Other Mention.

The youngest of the popular clubs of the city bids fair to be one of the strongest as regards membership, and one of the most entertaining and useful, as far as its program is concerned. The inauguration of the "Catholic Literary Society," at the home of Mrs. Sarah J. Foley on Lagrange street, a few weeks ago, was followed by the formal organization of the society at a meeting in Hubbard block last evening, when the following officers were elected:

President, T. J. McDonnell; vice-presidents, Miss Louise Obermiller, John Bartell; secretary, Mrs. Sarah J. Foley; treasurer, Mrs. Ferdinand Machen; board of managers, Mrs. Susan I. Moore, Mrs. M. O'Brien, John Murphy, Dr. H. I. Monroe.

The new pastor of St. Joseph's, Rev. Wm. Burns, furnished the literary feature of last evening's meeting, giving a fine rendition of Professor Aytoun's "Edinburg after Flodden." The applause with which the reading was received was evidence of the delight of the listeners.

On motion of Judge MacGahan, Father Burns was made "the first honorary member of the Catholic club of Toledo."

The yearly dues in this society are $1, and so many members have already been received that more commodious quarters must be secured. At the next meeting, Thursday evening, Dec. 17, Dr. H. I. Monroe will give a recitation.

The East Side Y. M. C. A. will give a gymnasium entertainment in Weber's hall on Saturday night, Dec. 12, beginning at 8 o'clock. The West Side senior class will be the performers, and good music will be rendered by the East Side orchestra. The work of the East Side Y. M. C. A. is moving along reasonably well, and deserves the hearty support of the Sixth ward people.

The Women's Colloquial club is in session this afternoon in the Law kindergarten room.

The Woman's Working band of the Central Congregational church hold their annual Christmas market in the church parlors next Wednesday, from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m., serving both dinner and supper.

APPROPRIATE JUST NOW.

How To Do Up Parcels for Uncle Sam's Mails.

Superintendent Burt, of the railway mail service, has prepared the following suggestions for patrons of the mails, and requests publication of the same, and here they are:

The holiday season is approaching, when the mails will be filled with holiday presents, and a great many are unnecessarily lost, delayed or damaged each year because of the indifferent manner in which they are prepared for mailing.

Newspaper or other thin paper should never be used for wrapping, and packages as ordinarily wrapped where purchased are not sufficiently secure for forwarding in the mails.

Use strong paper; make a solid package that will not crush easily; tie well with good twine; address legibly and correctly with ink on the lower right-hand corner and very few packages will fail to reach destination in good condition.

It is always advisable to place the name and address of the sender on the upper left hand corner of all packages, so they may be returned in case the addresses cannot be found. Postal statistics show that more delays result from incorrect addresses than from errors in distribution by postal employes.

In case of loss or delay report the same to your postmaster with all of the information that can be given.

SECRETARY FOSTER.

The Reports About His Health Have Been Exaggerated.

FIRE IN HER HOLD.

Perilous Voyage for the British Steamer Rydenholm.

New York, Dec. 4.—A dispatch from London to-day announces that the British steamer Rydenholm, from New Orleans, put into Aarhuns, Denmark, after a most dangerous experience at sea. The vessel had a cargo of cotton which in some way caught fire. It being impossible to extinguish the flames, an effort was made to confine the fire to the forehold where it originated.

When the vessel got to port the cargo in the forehold was burned, while the mainhold was also greatly damaged.

THE LAMENTED FLORENCE.

Pretty Story of Good Advice He Gave a Foolish Girl.

A pretty story of the lamented Florence is that of an episode with a stage-struck young woman related by the New York Times. Coming out of the theater in Boston one evening after a performance, a young woman timidly approached him, saying as he paused to listen: "Mr. Florence, will you tell me where I can come and see you about going on the stage?"

Taking in the situation at a glance, the actor replied kindly: "Why, yes, at the —— hotel to-morrow morning at 12 o'clock."

Punctually at that hour the would-be actress was shown in. She was evidently a simply-bred girl fascinated with the glamour of the footlights. With entire ignorance of what was expected of her she announced her desire, finishing naïvely:

"And I thought I'd come and ask you what I must do first."

"You are familiar with some plays, I presume?" questioned Mr. Florence.

"Oh, yes," eagerly. "I go to the theater all I can. I've seen you every time you've been in Boston."

"But I mean you have studied some dramatic roles?" pursued the actor.

"I—think not," was the hesitating reply.

"You can read something, at least, to let me see what you can do?" he tried next.

"I can read poetry," answered the girl.

"Don't you know some poetry that you can recite?" urged Mr. Florence.

Yes, she knew Longfellow's "The Bridge," and she proceeded to give it in a way that it has probably never been given before or since.

There was a moment's silence after she had finished, broken, at length, by Mr. Florence.

"You have a home?" he asked.

"Oh, yes."

"A mother and father?"

"No father, but a mother."

"And a lover, may be?" watching the girl's face keenly.

She blushed and admitted that there was a lover.

"Well, now, my dear," said Mr. Florence, dismissing her, "I can spare you no more time this morning. Leave me your name and address, and you shall hear from me very soon."

The girl complied, and before her footsteps had died away in the hall the actor was seated at a table writing. The next day, with a handsomely framed picture of Mr. Florence, there was delivered to the aspirant for histrionic effort this note:

Dear Miss ——: Stay with your, marry your lover, and play leading lady on the home stage, where you are fitted to shine in all womanliness. Be assured, my dear young friend, on the other stage to which you aspire you would be as out of place as a mouse in a ballroom.

Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM J. FLORENCE.

Nearly every pattern of 5/A Horse Blanket is imitated in color and style. In most cases the imitation looks just as good as the genuine, but it hasn't the warp threads, and so lacks strength, and while it sells for only a little less than the genuine it isn't worth one-half as much. The fact that 5/A Horse Blankets are copied is strong evidence that they are THE STANDARD, and every buyer should see that the 5/A trade mark is sewed on the inside of the Blanket.

A distinguished French physician insists upon it that raw oysters are extremely nourishing, and that in all cases of impaired digestion and nervous troubles they are an excellent tonic.

The Canadian Pacific Navigation company has arranged with the Canadian Pacific railway to run a line of steamers to Alaska and it is expected that a large tourist trade will be built up.

The severed bones of a child's leg were fastened together with steel nails by Cincinnati surgeons and the wound was allowed to go unattended for a month. The operation was successful.

Five great English warships are now declared to have guns which are unfit for service. These range from 110 to 67 tons. The French 75-ton guns, however, are said to be satisfactory.

A mining expert just returned from Alaska states that the country is rich in minerals of all kinds, and ventures the opinion that the finds of gold there will exceed that of 1849 in California.

The Pullman company caries annually 550,000 passengers and has an annual increase of 6 per cent. in passengers and milage. The mileage of their railways is five times the circumference of the world.

It is said that the great light from an arc lamp comes from the crater in one of the carbons. Hence recent search lamps are arranged so that the light of the crater is thrown on the reflectors, and not the flame light which is purple and of a feeble quality.

It is well to pick comfort out of every passing event as a Chicago paper does in the following way: Next June Chicago will be full of persons who have come here by way of Minneapois for the prpose of seeing how the world's fair is getting along.

The population of the world is about 1,500,000,000 people. One-fourth die before the 15th year, and the average duration of life is about 33 years. Thirty-three millions and thirty-three thousand people die each year, making a total of 91,501 each day.

At the recent maneuvres of the French army in Champagne the Service de Sante employed a portable hospital invented by M. Espitallier, a commandant of engineers. The barrack in question measured 16 metres by 5 metres inside, and could receive 20 beds.

Compressed air is used in the Union Pacific company's shed at Portland, Ore., for removing dust in railway cars. It is delivered from a flexible hose with a small nozzle at a pressure of 50 pounds to the square inch. It is very effective in cleaning plush cushions.

The European representatives of the different zinc producers held a meeting at Brussels and decided to increase the output of zinc in 1892 to 7,000 tons, with the understanding that the syndicate would be dissolved if another factory or factories started which could produce 5,000 tons per annum.

The growth of nails on the left hand requires from eight to ten days more than those on the right; the growth is more rapid in children than in adults, and goes on faster in winter than in summer. It requires an average of 132 days for the renewal of the nails in the winter and but 116 during the summer months.

The great birds are afraid of civilization and retreat before it. There is now on view in a shop window in Kirkwall, says the Pall Mall Gazette, four eggs of the great skua, a bird of peculiar habits and now almost extinct in Britain. Indeed, its only nesting place is the remote island of Foula, Shetland.

A number of the mining companies operating in the Black Hills have adopted a system of aggregating their shipments of ore, and sending to the smelting works in Illinois a long train of loaded cars of ore drawn by two locomotives, and each car decorated and marked with the name of the mine from which it came.

This country came near having Crescentia as the name of one of its states, instead of Maryland. It was originally intended to give that name to the province granted as a proprietary government to Lord Baltimore, but when the charter was presented to Charles I. for his signature he struck out that name and substituted "Maryland," in honor of his queen, Henrietta Maria, of France.

A remarkable change is predicted in the manner of giving the warning or guiding light to mariners. In England electric lights experimentally turned vertically toward the sky have given some extraordinary results. The light of the Eddystone lighthouse can be seen 17 1-2 miles on a clear night, but a vertical beam of light of far less power is visible just twice as far, with a strong chance of its surmounting an ordinary fog.

The wheat crop of 1891 is the greatest in our history; the tobacco crop is the greatest. The corn crop of 1891 is the second greatest, and the cotton crop of 1891 is equal to the greatest in quantity and the equal of the best in quality. The vegetable crop was never better, and the fruit crop was never so prolific. The orange crops of Florida and California are so fine that importations of oranges from the Mediterranean are about shut out.

One of the most famous and fatal poisons used in Japan and Java is obtained from the bamboo. The young shoots of the cane, when they first push through the ground, are covered with fine, brownish hairs, which, under the microscope, appear to be bayonet-like spikes of crystals of silex, infinitely sharp and hollow. Small quantities of these hairs administered daily in the food brings on ulceration of the whole alimentary canal, simulating malignant dystery, which eventually causes death.

What is called the "facial angle" was invented by Peter Camper, and first described by him in a book published in 1891. Its use is in measuring the elevation of the forehead. One line is drawn from the middle of the ear to the edge of the nostrils, and another thence to the ridge of the frontal bone, and the greater the angle the greater is supposed to be the intelligence of the subject measured. In the inferior races the facial angle is usually between 60 and 70; with Europeans it is from 75 to 85 degrees.

The Kansas City Star says: Political conventions began to come west in 1856, when the democrats nominated Buchanan for the presidency. Since that time the republicans or democrats have met in Chicago seven times, in Cincinnati four times and in St. Louis twice. Chicago has nominated five presidents and Cincinnati two. The last convention held in New York was in 1868, when Mr. Seymour was nominated by the democrats. With this exception the only important political convention held in the east since the war was that which renominated Gen. Grant in 1872.

ANOTHER EXTENSION

Granted to the Consolidated Street Railway.

Mr. Walbridge Says That Gas Cannot Be Furnished at One Dollar Per Thousand—Council Committees.

Several council committees held short meetings last evening, but the business before them was important.

The committee on railroads considered an ordinance granting to the Metropolitan street railway the right to construct an extension of its tracks along Central avenue from Cherry street to the westerly city limits. This will make another line to Woodlawn cemetery. After some discussion the ordinance was approved.

* * *

The gas committee met and approved legislation for a number of new electric lights, and just as they were about to adjourn Mr. H. S. Walbridge stepped forward and said that he had a remark to make.

"I simply want to say to your committee," said he, "that $1 per thousand is too low for illuminating gas, and our company can not afford to furnish it for that. The matter will undoubtedly be before this committee again and I will state to you that we will not make a contract to furnish gas at $1 or less than $1.20."

This is all Mr. Walbridge had to say, and as the matter was not before the committee no action was taken.

* * *

The street committee approved a resolution to grade Yondota street from First street to the Lake Shore tracks, and reapproved a resolution to grade Bay street from the River Road to Tiffin street.

A petition was presented asking that Lawrence avenue from Monroe street to Bancroft be paved with asphalt. As this petition asked for a wider pavement than was legislated for, the matter was laid over for one week.

A resolution to pave Virginia street from Collingwood avenue to Maplewood aveune was indefinitely postponed.

* * *

Some weeks ago the sidewalk committee directed the city solicitor to notify the W. & L. E. Railway company to keep the crossing at Chase street open and to put this crossing in such shape that it can be used.

In reference to this matter Chief Engineer Wilson of the railroad appeared before the committee last evening and asked that this matter be delayed until spring. The street is not opened or improved as yet and he stated that the company intended to take out all but the main track in this vicinity and vacate the yard. There were too many streets to make this place a good railroad yard any longer, and the company was about to abandon it. He promised that the tracks will be out of the way by the time the street is improved in the spring, and the committee allowed the matter to rest.

WON'T LET THEM DODGE.

The Administration Must Stand Up to the Rack.

Philadelphia's People Want to Know What Part the Government Had in the Recent Bank Failures.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 4.—Mayor Stuart to-day transmitted to councils the following reply of the secretary to President Harrison to the mayor's letter of November 23, requesting permission for the experts of the investigating committee of councils to examine the books and papers of the Spring Garden bank:

"The president directs me to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 23d inst., with the accompanying resolutions of the select and common councils of the city of Philadelphia, with the transcript of the proceedings of the sub-committee, and to say that it has had his attention. The matter is one so purely in the discretion of the secretary of the treasury that the president would, with reluctance, interfere; but he will call the matter to the attention of the secretary when he recovers from his present indisposition. The president is just now too busy with the necessity preparations for the assembling of congress to make a personal examination into the matter."

The action of councils in passing a resolution requesting the mayor to write to the president and ask permission for the experts to go into the Spring Garden bank was prompted by the refusal of Secretary of the Treasury Foster to acquiesce in such a request made by councils committee investigating the city deposits in the Keystone and Spring Garden banks.

DIED AT THE LAUNCH.

Philadelphia, Dec. 4.—Ex-County Commissioner Wm. Faunce, 86 years of age, died suddenly at Cramp's ship yards while waiting for the cruiser New York to be launched.

He had taken two of his grandchildren to witness the launching, when suddenly his head fell on his breast and he dropped to the ground.

He was taken to his home, but died before reaching there. Death was due to heart disease.

TRUE SYMPATHY, INDEED.

Columbus, Dec. 4.—Wm. Fitzgerald, the Youngstown murderer, under sentence of death December 15, has received a draft for $46 from the warden of the Jackson (Mich.) penitentiary, this amount having been raised by the convicts of that institution to assist him in conducting his case before the supreme court. Fitzgerald has always denied that he served a term of imprisonment in Michigan.

BELL TELEPHONE SENSATION.

Boston, Dec. 4.—The Journal to-day hints that a sensation may be developed soon in the Bell telephone case. The paper says that it is reported that a new line of evidence has been discovered, and that therein the sensation lies.

The district attorney, when questioned by the United Press correspondent with regard to this assertion of the paper refused to either confirm or deny the report.

EARL OF ERROLL DEAD.

London, Dec. 4.—Wm. Harry Hay, eighteenth earl of Erroll, died today. He was born in 1823, and succeeded to the earldom in 1846. He sat in the house of lords as Lord Kilmarnock.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever see anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

THE LINE IS ALL RIGHT.

So Says the Learned Canal Commissioners.

To Change the Ohio Boundary Now Would Be to Make a Heap of Trouble for Settlers.

Columbus, O., Dec. 4.—The canal commissioner differs with Prof. Mendenhall as to Ohio's western boundary line. They think the Harris line, a copy of which is on file in the auditor of state's office, will be found to be the correct one.

According to the papers on file the survey was made in 1817, and commences at the eighty-ninth mile from the Ohio river where Ludlow's survey, previously made, stops.

At the beginning it notes a variation of three degrees by observation, and gives the witness trees at each mile to the northwest corner of the state, making the total length of the line from the Ohio river 178 miles, 21 chains and 87 links.

The plat is indorsed to the effect that survey was made under a contract and pursuant to instructions from Edward Tiffin, then surveyor general of the United States.

All those who are posted in the matter state that to make any change in the line now would greatly complicate real estate titles. For years the base-lines east and west have been run from the Harris line, and there would be no end of complicated claims and contentions over titles to property, the number of acres of which depend upon the surveys based on the line that has been accepted as the correct boundary of the two states.

GET THE GENUINE.

If you suffer with lame back, especially in morning, Allcock's Plasters are a sure relief.

If you cannot sleep, try an Allcock Plaster, well up between the shoulder blades—often relieves—sometimes cures. Try this before you resort to opiates.

If any of your muscles are lame—joints stiff—feel as if they wanted oiling—or if you suffer with any local pains or aches, these plasters will cure you.

If you use them once you will realize why so many plasters have been made in imitation of them. Like all good things they are copied as closely as the law allows. Don't be duped by taking an imitation when it is as easy to get the genuine.

If you always insist upon having Allcock's Porous Plasters and never accept a substitute you will not be disappointed.

ONE OF FORAKER'S SCHEMES.

Carrollton, O., Dec. 4.—(Special)—The republicans of Harrison county are circulating a petition, which has numerous signatures, asking that Representative Kerr, of this district, vote for Foraker, and use his influence toward his selection.

MORE TROUBLE.

London, Dec. 4.—A dispatch to the Times from Santiago says that the executive committee of the Union Civica of the Argentine Republic has resolved by a unanimous vote, to break off all negotiations with the Nationales Civica and that it insists upon nominating Gen. Mitre for president, and Senor Uriburu for vice president.

MONUMENTAL NERVE.

John C. Eno Will Return to the States

And Re-Enter the Social Swirl in New York.

Having Stolen Two Million Dollars Will Not Bar Him from Again Taking Front Rank in the Four Hundred.

New York, Dec. 4.—It is understood in club circles, says a morning newspaper, that John C. Eno, ex-president of the Fifth national bank, who has been a fugitive from New York justice in Canada for seven years, has arranged his affairs and will be able to return to New York early in the winter or not later than March.

Mr. Eno's father, Amos R. Eno, is the owner of the Fifth avenue hotel property which was mortgaged in 1884 for about two millions to save the Fifth national bank from failure, as a result of its fast young president's misappropriation of securities.

Its president, "Johnny" Eno, who had been a hail fellow well met for years, was found to be practically a defaulter for nearly two millions.

When informed of his son's wrongdoing, Amos R. Eno, nearly 70 years old, who is as blunt as he is honest, said: "The bank shall be saved if it costs me $1,000,000 a day." It looked for some days as if it would require all the father's fortune to save the honor and credit of the son.

Wm. Walter Phelps, one of the bank directors, also came forward like a little man and pledged his individual fortune to strengthen the bank's credit at the clearing house and save depositors from loss.

But the fast living young president was compelled to fly to Canada to escape arrest. New Yorkers, travelers near Toronto, have since seen him living in luxurious exile, following every form of social pleasure and dissipation as of old, and as popular in a fast Canadian set as he used to be among New York club men.

It is quite likely that the return of the boodle aldermen and of Billy Maloney from Canada, as well as that of Owen Murphy, suggested to Mr. Eno that he has remained long enough in voluntary exile to make criminal proceedings against him practically impossible.

He has never, however, feared the criminal processes of the courts, but has always felt that if he could compromise with his creditors he would be able to escape criminal prosecution.

It is stated that Mr. Eno has been daring enough to come over the line, and even to come to New York city, within the last three or four weeks, and that in the secret interview he had with the most influential of his creditors he was able to satisfy their demands and get their consent not to push criminal proceedings against him.

If these reports are true it is probable that within the course of a few weeks Mr. Eno will return to New York and attempt to resume the position socially which he held before he fled as a criminal to Canada seven or eight years ago.

WATCHING THE PRICE OF OIL

Drills Will Soon Be Put in Operation Again.

Findlay Saloon in Trouble for Not Obeying the Law of the State —General Mention.

Findlay, O., Dec. 4.—(Special)—The oil producers are wondering what is the matter with the Standard in moving up the price of Ohio crude. Some of the enthusiastic members of the oil fraternity claim the price will surely go up to 40 if not 50 cents.

Many predict the price will be 37 1-2 to-day.

One or two notches higher will set the drill to going in this field at a rapid rate and give the business a boom. No one knows the true reason of the advance in price. The Standard does not make known any of its secrets.

Gave Himself Up.

Thomas Jordan, a West Park saloon man, who was arrested in January for keeping his saloon open on Sunday, skipped to Ft. Wayne at the time but he returned yesterday and gave himself up for trial.

Wrestling Match.

A man by the name of Sullivan, of Lima, and a glass worker by the name of Davis, of this city, are matched for a wrestling match to take place at Davis' opera house, on Saturday evening, Dec. 12. The local sporting fraternity are considerably worked up over the affair. It is said the Lima man is the stronger of the two men. The purse is $250 a side.

Saloon Closed.

The saloon of Charles Neumann, in the Kemmel block on North Main street, was closed and taken possession of by County Treasurer Shaw yesterday for the non-payment of the present installment of the Dow tax. An outside firm also got out an attachment against the fixtures. The saloon men generally complain of a light trade this fall.

ENDED HIS DAYS.

Wealthy Cracker Manufacturer Puts a Bullet Through His Brain.

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 4.—John T. Stapler, a wealthy cracker manufacturer, estimated to be worth $150,000, committed suicide to-day by shooting himself. He has been afflicted with melancholia for sometime. He and his wife were preparing to go to Bermuda. While his wife was packing his valise he put a bullet in his brain. His debts are said to be less than $10,000.

PLEADING FOR HIS RIGHTS.

An Ohio Pensioner Arguing His Own Case.

Hardly Able to Walk He Is Advised to Return Home and Wait Till Baum Gets Ready to Look After His Wants.

Washington, Dec. 4.—At the pension building to-day much sympathy was awakened for a crippled Ohio soldier, who called to see about his pension.

His name is Charles Woodley, and his home is near Tiffin. He belonged to the Forty-ninth Ohio infantry, and received three wounds in one of the battles of the Atlanta campaign.

One was through the left arm, resulting in amputation near the shoulder, and the two others were through the body. His wounds have caused partial paralysis, so that he is only able to walk with the greatest difficulty.

The paralysis came upon him about a year ago. Since then he has applied for an increase of pension, to which his helpless condition entitles him.

Impatient at the delay he came to Washington to urge the matter in person. He was advised to return home, being assured that his case would be expedited as fast as possible.

As a general thing, it is not wise for soldiers to come to Washington on such errands. There are too many political debts to pay to find time to treat the deserving soldier fairly.

TERRIFIC COLLISION

Between Two Electric Cars Last Evening—A Miraculous Escape.

About 9:30 last evening electric car No. 26 of the Robison line and car No. 118 of the Consolidated collided with terrific force at the intersection of Superior and Jefferson streets. The crash of the collision was heard for blocks away, and in a minute several hundred persons had collected at the scene.

The escape from a catastrophe almost as terrible as the Lake Shore disaster of Saturday night was miraculous. As it was, several were more or less injured. The Consolidated car was going at a rapid rate of speed towards Monroe street, while the Robison, going equally as fast, was going towards Huron street.

Neither would give way to the other, and the result was a collision which damaged the Consolidated car badly, and shook up and hurt many of the passengers who filled both cars.

The Robison car had almost cleared the Consolidated track when it was struck. It did not leave the track, but the other was knocked galley west.

T. Rooney, Missouri street, Alva Hooper and a Miss Driscoll, in the Consolidated, received slight injuries. Rooney had an arm sprained, and Hooper was injured on the foot and hand.

A lady whose name could not be ascertained had her shoulder injured, and the conductor of the Consolidated was cut about the hands.

Alderman John Hubarick was on the Consolidated. He said to a Bee: "It was a mighty narrow escape. If it had not been for the manner in which the cars struck there would have been lives lost."

THE SOLDIERS AT WAR.

The O. N. G. Boys Have Taken Up Their Arms.

They Object to Playing Second Fiddle to an Unattached Company at the Inauguration.

Columbus, Dec. 4.—The protest of the National Guard against the Cleveland Grays, one of the crack military companies of the state, being accorded the honors at the inauguration of Major McKinley as governor, is attracting considerable comment in military circles.

It appears that the movement really had its inception in Cleveland, where the headquarters of the Fifth regiment of infantry and the First regiment of light artillery, formerly commanded by Col. Smithnight, is located.

The commands objecting to the recognition of the unttthached company are the Fourteenth and Seventeenth regiments of infantry of Columbus; in addition to the Fifth of Cleveland, and the First and only regiment of artillery attached to the Ohio National Guard.

These commands, being regular troops of the state, will necessarily have to join in the parade if ordered to do so, as they are all subject to call of the commanding officer.,

The action of the Ohio National Guard in objecting to the recognition of the independent company conforms to the sentiment of the convention of the National Guard of the United States, recently held in Chicago to perfect arrangements for the demonsrttion at the world's fair.

At this convention a resolution was adopted recommending that no independent organization be recognized in the parade, and that only the regularly attached troops, subject to call, be permitted to take part in the demonstration at the opening of the Columbian exposition.

Gen. Miles, who was selected by the convention to have charge of the troops on the occasion of the opening, approved the resolution and expressed himself as being opposed to the recognition of any except regularly attached commands.

While no official action has been taken in the controversy, it is pretty evident that nothing short of a peremptory order from the commanding officer will bring out the National Guard at the inauguration unless the Grays are dropped from the post of honor.

NATIONAL EDITORS.

They are Fixing Things for Their Annual Blowout.

Cincinnati, Dec. 4.—W. S. Cappeller, president, of Mansfield, Ohio, and J. M. Page, of Jerseyville, Ills., secretary of the national editorial association, met here and fixed January 20th, at the Burnett house, Cincinnati, for the meeting of the executive committee of the association, which is to fix the time and place for the annual meeting next year.

In addition to the executive committee, comprising about sixty editors, there will be in attendance at the meeting, delegations from California, Asheville, Norfolk, Va., Seattle, Wash., Atlantic City, N. J., New Orleans and other points that are anxious to secure the editors annual convention.

ADVANCED THE CASES.

Washington, Dec. 4.—The Chicago anarchist cases have been re-assigned for argument in the United States supreme court at the head of the calendar on Monday, the 21st instant. This order was made on motion of Mr. C. D. Barrett, counsel for Fielden and Schwab, with the consent of Mr. Hunt, attorney general for the state of Illinois.

PROFITABLE BUSINESS.

New York, Dec. 4.—The directors of the Commercial Cable company have declared a quarterly dividend of 1 3-4 per cent., payable January 2, 1892; they have also resolved to redeem $120,000 of the outstanding debentures of the company on the 15th of January, 1892.

FINANCIAL EMBARRASSMENT.

Melbourne, Dec. 4.—The suspension of several banks and building associations has caused depression in financial circles. Banks are conservative about extending credits, but no serious result is expected. The suspended institutions claim ability to liquidate in full.

MCKINLEY DID NOT GO.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—Gov.-elect McKinley, who was to have been the principal guest at the inaugural dinner of the Fellowship club here to-night, telegraphed that illness of his wife compels him at the last moment to cancel the engagement.

THROCKMORTON'S CASE.

Washington, Dec. 4.—The war department this morning revoked the order suspending the courtmartial ordered to meet at New York for the trial of Maj. Throckmorton, Second artillery, and instructs the court to proceed on the 9th inst.

SALVATION ARMY TROUBLES.

London, Dec. 4.—The members of the Salvation Army charged with causing disturbances at East Bourne have been found guilty of unlawful assembly, but have been acquitted of the charge of conspiracy. They have appealed.

RELIGIOUS ACTION.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 4.—The czar has appointed a new metropolitan of the Greek church at Kieff, and has decreed vigorous action against the Stundists, who, he says, "are injuring more and more the faith of our fathers."

BACCILLI IN BLOOD.

Recent experiments as read before the last Congress of Surgeons at Berlin, leave no doubt that the true way to CLEAR THE SYSTEM OF MICROBI is through the pores of the skin. It has been found that a remedy which kills the Microbi will also destroy the life of the patient; but it has also been found that the Microbi can be forced out through the skin, and it is in this way that S.S.S. relieves the system of poison.

HAVING SUFFERED much from Contagious Blood Poison, after using half a dozen bottles of S.S.S. I was RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH, and all eruptive sores disappeared. You are at liberty to make any use of my statement that you wish.—J. CROSBY BYRON, 208 Third Avenue, Pittsburg, Pa.

Leading Republicans of the State Think That No Further Steps Will Be Taken in the Matter.

Columbus, Dec. 4.—(Special)—Among leading republicans here the opinion is generally expressed that the state central committee will take no further steps looking to the contesting of the seat of Senator Brice.

As Judge Nash declined to undertake to examine the woodpile to ascertain whether a colored gentleman is concealed in it, another meeting of the committee would have to be called to designate some one else to do the job and because of the general sentiment that Mr. Brice is an inhabitant of Ohio within the meaning of the law.

It is now considered, even by some of the most radical of the republicans, that a great mistake was made in agitating this question and it is deemed improbable that any further movement toward contesting the seat of Mr. Brice will be made by those anxious to steal any office in their reach.

This will be a bitter pill for the republican shouters who conceived in the limited quarters of their brain an idea that the Brice seat could be stolen and handed over to Foraker.

TOOK A NIGHT OFF.

The Railroad Clerks Have a Delightful Hop at Pythian Castle.

Las evening the Railway Clerks' association gave its first grand ball of the season at Pythian castle, and to say that it was a success is putting it mildly.

The hall which was tastefully decorated, was filled with as merry an assemblage of young people as has graced the institution since it was opened.

The music was furnished by Wolff's orchestra, and good music it was. The schedule of dances was dedicated to the various railroads which centers or enters Toledo.

Dick Conlisk was general director, and to him and the following committees is due the success of the affair:

Reception—G. W. Lipscombe, R. G. Fitzgerald, R. M. Parke, O. C. Wiedeman, A. W. Sheahen, Frank White, Chas. J. Fox, E. W. Rogers, M. G. Givens, Thos. F. Farrell, C. E. Redfield, Chas. Myers.

Floor—R. M. Conlisk, director; Herman Rupped, W. A. Todd, J. C. Mullen, W. A. Kreiter.

At midnight 20 minutes were taken for refreshments, after which dancing was resumed and kept up until an early hour this morning.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles

London wheat market firmer; corn steadier. Weather warm for season. Liverpool wheat steady at advance of 1-2d per 100 pounds. Corn 3-4d per 100 pounds lower.

Liverpool received in past six days 523,000 bu wheat, of which 351,700 was American; and 202,000 bu of corn.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 880,528 bu, compared with 459,346 bu on the same day last year.

The demand for box cars throughout the state of Kansas to ship the corn and wheat surplus to market is urgent at nearly every station along the 9,000 miles of railroad in the state. The people are clamoring for cars, and all railroad companies are gathering up every empty car to meet this demand.—Chicago Bulletin.

At a meeting of a western freight committee, Wednesday, it was agreed that a charge of $2.00 per car should be made for reconsigning freight at Chicago other than grain.

The Lake Shore railroad, Wednesday, gave notice that grain in bulk by transfer would no longer be received from western connections without previous arrangement.

The receipts of wheat to-day at seven principal western points are 421,182 bu in excess of the corresponding Friday in 1890.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were 337,561 bu of wheat and flour to an aggregate of 560,000 bu. The exports of corn were 68,616 bu, and of oats 40,862 bu.

English markets as reported herein are steadier and in some cases higher for wheat and lower for corn.

It has been stated in about all the grain papers of late, that Beerbohm's table of the world's production gave a result of 50,000,000 bu over 1890. We have the table before us, but do not find the above result. Compared with 1890 the excess is 17,120,000 bu, and compared with 1889, 61,360,000 bu. The significant point in the statement is, that Europe and other foreign countries are largely deficient while that deficiency is more than redeemed by the crop in this country. Beerbohm says of this statement, "The great feature shown by this table is the unprecedentedly short crop in Europe and the consequent change of power to supply wheat from the old to the new world." This country must be looked to, to supply the unfortunate deficiency in the crops of the old world, and that is just exactly what this coutnry can do.

Liverpool and Berlin wheat markets opened a shade higher to-day as a natural reflection of yesterday's firmness on this side. Private cables make Liverpool 1-2d higher all around, and corn lower for spot and higher for futures. Berlin and Paris reported slightly higher.

The markets abroad are now furnishing the basis for transactions. Accumulations on this side are forgotten so long as our values are so clearly within the export basis. Contracts for rail freight are reported at Minneapolis, and the wheat is for export. The business of the west is too much for the equipment of the roads, and the Lake Shore railway has declined to receive any more grain, except on previous arrangement.

The business of the Exchanges is of a room trading character. The public are not in it, and around a a basis of 97 1-2c for May wheat at Chicago the market fluctuated up and down within narrow limits.

To-day the markets opened with a little more firmness, but it was temporary, and the conditions were soon changed for weakness and a slow decline and resulting in a break at the close of from 1-4c to 7-8c.

Corn has lost its firmness for one day, at least, and has declined from 1-8c to 3-4c on futures east and west.

In New York December wheat closed at a loss of 7-8c and May 3-4c. December corn lost 3-4c and May 1-4c. December oats gained 3c.

In Chicago December wheat lost 1-4 and May 5-8. December corn lost 1-2 and May 1-8. December oats 1-8 off.

In Toledo. The trading in wheat futures has been a little more active than yesterday, and almost entirely for May. The opening and later prices up to 12 o'clock were a shade above yesterday's close, but the market became weak in sympathy with other markets, and at close December was 1-2c and May 5-8c below yesterday. On the call May wheat sold at $1 02 to $1 02 1-8. After the call December sold at 95 and closed at 94 1-4. May sold at $1 02 and closed at 1 02 1-8.

Cash wheat was not in active request and the sales were light. No. 2 soft sold at 95c and closed at 94 1-4c, a loss of 1-2c; No. 3 soft at 91 1-2@91c; rejected No. 2 at 72c; No. 1 white at 92c; No. 2 at 91c.

Corn—On the call January sold at 44 1-2c; after the call January at 44 1-2c; No. 4 at 42 1-2c, closing 42c asked; No. 3 yellow at 47 1-2c. Oats—No. 2, 33c; No. 2 white, 34c. Rye—No. 2 at 93 1-2c; No. 3 at 90c.

Clover seed steady and fairly active; prime for cash at $5 10; December at $5 15@5 10, closing at $5 15; January at $5 20; March, $5 30; No. 2 at $5 00.

DR. SMITH RUN OVER

By an Electric Car on the Robison Line.

Being Over Seventy Years of Age, Recovery Is Not Probable—How the Accident Occurred.

This morning at 8:30 o'clock, when a Robison electric car was making its trip down Washington street, an old gentleman, 72 years of age, was struck and knocked down by the car, just as it reached Thirteenth street, the truck passing over the man, crushing both feet, so that amputation will be necessary.

The gentleman proved to be Dr. E. Smith, of Boise City, Iowa, and has been the guest of his daughter at 215 Missouri street. It was the intention of the father and daughter to leave the city this morning, and they were waiting for a car to carry them to the depot when the accident occurred. The old gentleman, who was slightly in advance of his daughter, evidently intended to cross the track and gain entrance on the opposite side of the car, as they had previously been standing on the Consolidated tracks. The motor man sounded his gong and the daughter warned him of the approaching danger, but it was too late, as it was impossible to stop the car at this point. The car was not going at a full rate of speed, and the majority of those who witnessed the accident think that the motor man did all that was in his power to avert it.

Dr. Smith was immediately taken to his daughter's home on Missouri street, but on account of his age, slight hopes of his recovery are entertained. The relatives, abroad, have been notified of the accident.

The motor man and conductor were arrested, but immediately released. The following is the motorman's and conductor's report of the accident:

"Coming down Washington street (towards town) on 8:30 a. m. trip, due at transfer station at 9:10; was on my time. As I crossed Fourteenth street, saw an old man standing on the space between our track and the Consolidated. I rang my foot gong and noticed that he did not look towards me, but gazed towards Thirteenth street (north). I cut my power out, set my brake and kept ringing gong all the time. As I was getting close to him he did not seem to notice car. I yelled to him to "Get out of the way" when a short distance away. At this time he seemed to hear me and stepped directly on track in front of car. I then reversed car and put on brake, but could not stop it soon enough. I struck him on his left side. He fell under the car and the left front wheel passed over one of his legs. Passengers and neighbors assisted in lifting the car and the man was taken out from between the front and rear wheel. The car was No. 11, a single motor car, the motor being on the rear axle. After warning by the bell and yelling to him, I saw that when he gave no attention it was too late then to stop. Did everything in my power, but to no effect. My speed when between Fourteenth and Thirteenth streets was about 6 to eight miles an hour.

"FRANK HUNTER, Motorman."

"Did not see the man; knew nothing was wrong until I felt car stop; looked out and saw the man between the wheels of the truck; pulled off the wire immediately and helped lift car and take man out.

LAID UP FOR THE WINTER.

A large number of vessels are tied up in Swan creek, their usual winter quarters, and everything has been made snug for the coming season. In the fall when the vessels are crowding into the creek there is usually a jam and a blockade, but this season all that has been obviated by Harbormaster Skeldon, who has kept a close watch of the vessels as they went up the creek, and he has not allowed them to be placed abreast, but has kept the channel open and in good shape.

For the information of vessel men it is stated that there will be no night watchmen on the creek bridges above Perry street after to-night.

EDITOR JOE SMITH.

Politics makes strange changes in newspapers. For three years the Urbana Citizen has been one of the brightest papers in Ohio, with Joseph P. Smith as editor. Mr. Smith is not only a good newspaper man, but he also bears the reputation of being one of the best politicians in Ohio. So well posted is he regarding Ohio politics that Major McKinley's friends wanted him made secretary of the campaign committee when it was reorganized last summer. But ex-Gov. Foraker raised a row because Mr. Smith was a staunch friend of Senator Sherman. Mr. Smith continued as an editor, and his series of letters on "Why I am a Protectionist," written by the ablest and best-known republicans in the country, attracted wide attention, and were copied in many states. The Citizen did good work not only for McKinley, but for Sherman, but while "Editor Joe" was at work for the party ex-Gov. Foraker's friends were planning how to get rid of him. They formed a pool, according to reliable report, and after the election Mr. Smith discovered that his business partner had sold out to some other man, who wanted to swing the paper for Foraker. Smith was crowded out and the Citizen is now shouting for Foraker instead of for Sherman. But Mr. Smith's newspaper reputation brought him many offers, and the first of the year he will go to Toledo to take editorial charge of the Commercial, where he will have a wider field and a greater influence. It is no disparagement to the Toledo Commercial to say that Joe Smith will add to its popularity and make its editorial page one of the most readable in Ohio.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

A MASONIC RELIC.

At the insurance office of Messrs. C. C. & H. H. Dawson, room 2, Bee building, may be seen what is presumed to be the most ancient Masonic certificate in the city. It was issued to John Dawson, then a resident of that part of London known as Smithfield, celebrated at the place where John Rogers, "the first of the Marian martyrs," was burned at the stake in 1555. The following is a copy:

"His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales,
R. W. G. M. Elected A. D., 1791.

"These are to certify that Brother John Dawson, of No. 36 Aldersgate street, in the Parish of St. Rudolph Aldersgate, was made a Mason at the Age of 23 years on Thursday, the Twentieth day of March, 1794, in the Lodge of Honor and Generosity, held at the Buffalo Tavern, Bloomsbury Square, Holburn, and after having been regularly passed the Second Degree was made Master Mason. "In testimony whereof we have hereof subscribed our names in open Lodge this tenth day of July, A. D., 1794.

(Signed)
"R. J. FISHER, Rt. Wor. Master.
"THOS. MASON, Senr. Warden.
"THOS. PRICKETT, Junr. Warden.
"J. W. COLE, Secretary.

"N. B. The Bearer hereof having signed his Name and Address as under, You are requested to see him write it again in Order to prevent Impositions.

(Signed)
"JOHN DAWSON,
No. 30 Duke Street, Smithfield."

DELIGHTFULLY SARCASTIC

Letter Written by Sir Edwin Arnold to a Toledoan.

Some time ago a gentleman connected with the Y. M. C. A. wrote a letter to Sir Edwin Arnold's manager questioning the great author's orthodoxy.

The author of "The Light of the World"—that poem of poems—answered the complaint personally, and his reply is said to be a gem of delightful sarcasm. The reply has been kept a secret, and it is mooted about on the quiet.

The last terrible railroad calamity at Toledo, need not be very amazing, when we are told that by schedule time there was but two minutes difference in the arrival of the two colliding trains. It has been so stated. And there is a tunnel not far back from where the first train was signaled to stop. Of course we do not know at present where the special blame should rest for this particular mishap.—Norwalk Reflector.

TWO BURGLARS ARRESTED.

They Gave Up the Story of Their Crime on Being Arrested.

Akron, Dec. 4.—William Bert Falor and Frank Harding are prisoners at the police station. Wednesday night they executed a well-devised scheme to burglarize a number of East Market street stores. They failed to open the safes, but carried off a valuable quantity of jewelry and merchandise and some small change.

They had made their way safely out, when Harding remembered that he had left his overcoat in Odd Fellows' hall. They ascended the stairway to the hall. The door was locked, and in their endeavor to break it open attracted two police officers to the scene. They were arrested and told their story substantially as above given.

STEAMER BURNED.

Only the Hull Left of the Steamer Jeanie.

Owned by John Craig and Others—A Fire That Threatened the Shipping in the Harbor, But Did Not Spread.

The passenger steamer Jeanie caught fire last night at the Craig ship yard dock, and afterwards drifting out into the river burned to the water's edge.

The fire was discovered about 10:45, and an alarm was turned in from the ship yards, but before the apparatus from No. 6 could make the run down through the mile and half of deep mud the vessel had burned her moorings or been cut loose and drifted out into the river.

The light wood work of the vessel made an immense blaze, and to prevent damage to buildings, docks or shipping on the west side of the river, engines were stationed there to watch the fire and prevent it from communicating to anything on shore. The burning steamer drifted almost directly across the river, but grounded about 300 feet off shore, opposite the Manhattan mills, where she burned down to the water and became a total loss. The fire started in the forward end, and it is not known what caused it. The watchman was asleep in the cabin when the fire was discovered.

The vessel is the property of John Craig, and he estimates the loss at $25,000, with an insurance of $10,000.

During the season of 1890 the Jeanie ran between Toledo and Monroe, but last season she was not fitted up at all. During the whole of last season the steamer lay tied up at the ship yard wharf.

The burning steamer floating about the black river made a wonderful sight, and illuminated nearly the whole harbor, attracting many people who lived on the banks on both sides, and watched the fire burn out, notwithstanding the driving rain.

CHRONIC DISEASES.

Probably no author has so carefully studied those nervous disorders of men and women in their various forms and complications as have Drs. France & Ottman, and in their medical works on the diseases of the nervous system, they point out the fact that almost invariably in cases of insanity, nervous prostration and allied disorders and diseases of women, the ground-work or foundation lies in constipation, and the result or fever it produces upon the fine and delicate nerves which lie upon the inner surface of the bowels. The nerves must, after a time, become afflicted themselves, and then we have the grave forms of nervous diseases, and even paralysis may be looked for. Those nerves, which are intended to drive the machinery of our bodies, are no longer capable of performing those functions, hence we often have kidney disease, heart trouble, headache, dyspepsia, a torpid liver, or biliousness; in fact, we may have any of the organs of the body deranged so they can no longer perform their natural function from the same cause. The question then naturally arises, why not relieve this fever upon which so much trouble depends? Any invalid who values life, health and happiness, should not miss this opportunity of consulting Drs. France & Ottman, and get an opinion of his case. A consultation will cost you nothing and may be the means of bringing health and happiness.

Drs. France & Ottman, formerly of New York, now of the France Medical and Surgical Institute, Columbus, Ohio, by request of many friends and patients, have decided to visit Toledo, Saturday, Dec. 5. Consultation and examination free and strictly confidential in the private parlor of the Burnett house, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., one day only.

HE BLEW OUT THE GAS.

A Traveler Meets Death in a Wellsville Hotel.

Wellsville, O., Dec. 4.—A stranger entered the American hotel in this city and registered as Harry P. Krepps, Lebanon, Pa., Wednesday.

After supper he was given a room, which he paid for, including breakfast in the morning. The landlord noticed that he was slightly under the influence of liquor, and after showing him to his room cautioned him to turn out the gas.

Not being seen in the morning, it was supposed that he had left, and nothing was thought of him afterwards.

That night and during the day a strong odor of gas pervaded the hotel building and almost every room in the building was examined. When the room which the stranger had been given was reached it was found to be locked. The clerk looked over the transom and saw Mr. Krepps lying on the bed. The door was then forced open. The gas was out, but turned on, and the occupant of the room lay dead upon the bed.

The coroner held an inquest and rendered a verdict in accordance with above facts. The man had stated he was a steel tester by occupation. His age is about forty-five. Thirty cents in money was found in his pockets. No papers or other articles to establish his further identity were found.

Weakness of sight is frequently the result of general debility. When the blood is impoverished every organ and sense suffers. As an effective, powerful, and economical tonic-alterative, Ayer's Sarsaparilla may be relied on every time.
